

PROPOSED RATES
IN NEW TAX BILL
ARE MADE PUBLIC

Tentative Schedule Hits Incomes as Low as $50,000—Heavy on Those Above $1,000,000.

RETAINS GRADUATED CORPORATION LEVY

13 1-4 to 14 1-4 Per Cent Accepted in Place of Present Flat Rate of 13 3-4 Pct. Net Earnings.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—New tax rates, proposed by the House Ways and Means Committee majority, affecting incomes as low as $50,000 and taking away three-quarters of that part of an income over $5,000,000 were made public today by the committee.

The new schedule has been tentatively approved by Democratic members of the committee, who previously had agreed not to levy additional taxes on incomes under $150,000 and to apply the maximum 75 per cent rate only to income over $10,000,000.

At present the tax on a $56,000 income is $9,500. The proposed new schedule would make it $9,560. The present levy on $1,000,000 is $53,000, whereas the new tax would be $64,000.

The proposed new individual income tax schedule was made public as Chairman Doughton called the first meeting of the full committee to consider the bill drafted to carry out President Roosevelt's idea.

New Inheritance Taxes.
The tentative measure puts new taxes on inheritances and gifts, in addition to those already imposed on estates and gifts; increases the levies on corporation profits and assesses corporations from 13 1-4 to 14 1-4 per cent on their net income.

At today's meeting, the committee finished reading only about one-third of the 96-page bill. Doughton said after a subsequent meeting today he would introduce the tentative draft of the measure.

It was reported that by a strict party vote of 16 Democrats to six Republicans the committee had retained in the tentative bill the graduated corporation income tax schedule.

Under present law all corporation net income is subject to a flat tax of 13 1-4 per cent. President Roosevelt had suggested that it be replaced with a graduated tax ranging from 10 1-2 to 16 1-2 per cent.

Committee Democrats, however, balked, finally accepting the 13 1-4 to 14 1-4 graduated tax which now stands, any corporation which had a net income under $15,000 a year would pay a 10 1-2 per cent tax; an income above that amount would be taxed 14 1-4 per cent.

New Surplus Schedule.
The new surplus schedule tentatively approved by committee Democrats follows:

Income bracket.	New rate.	Old rate.
$50,000-$56,000	13 1-4	13 3-4
$56,000-$62,000	13 3-4	13 3-4
$62,000-$68,000	14 1-4	13 3-4

$170,000-$180,000	20 3-4	13 3-4
$180,000-$190,000	21 1-4	13 3-4
$190,000-$200,000	21 3-4	13 3-4
$200,000-$250,000	22 1-4	13 3-4
$250,000-$300,000	22 3-4	13 3-4
$300,000-$400,000	23 1-4	13 3-4
$400,000-$500,000	23 3-4	13 3-4
$500,000-$750,000	24 1-4	13 3-4
$750,000-$1,000,000	24 3-4	13 3-4
$1,000,000-$2,000,000	25 1-4	13 3-4
$2,000,000-$5,000,000	25 3-4	13 3-4
Over $5,000,000	75	75

To these surtaxes in each instance must be added the "normal" tax of per cent levied on all net income over $4,000.

"Hoax," Says Vandenberg.
Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, in a statement last night termed the tax plan "as grim a hoax as ever was perpetrated on the country" and demanded that consideration of taxes be postponed until next winter, when they can be studied in connection with the budget for the next fiscal year.

"Our bills for the next fiscal year should be courageously reduced to the minimum permitted by our unavoidable necessities," he said. "Then our taxes, if possible, should balance this budget."

Vandenberg, mentioned among Republican presidential possibilities, denounced the tax plan as a "sterile political gesture" which would raise "only a little extra pocket change," and declared "we chatter of taxes in millions to offset known deficits in billions."

15-TON BOEING BOMBER PLANE MAKES SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT

The "299," Largest Land Ship in U. S., to Be Demonstrated Before Army Air Corps Officers.

By the Associated Press.
SEATTLE, July 29.—Boeing 299, huge bomber, largest land plane in America, swept down Boeing field here yesterday and into the air for an initial test flight. After an hour and a half in the air, Leslie R. Tower, test pilot, and his co-pilot, Louis Walt, said the great war weapon was an unqualified success.

The 15-ton ship, with a 105-foot wing span, and 70 feet long, lifted into the air with its four motors roaring 10 seconds after it started. At a reported cost of $500,000 the Boeing Airplane Co. built the bomber for army use. It will be demonstrated to high officials of the Air Corps, at Dayton, O., Aug. 22.

Tower said he flew at an altitude of between 7000 and 8000 feet. The plane "cruised" at about 200 miles an hour.

The plane has a total of 3000 horsepower, each motor providing 750 horsepower. Five machine gun turrets, protected by a new form of bulletproof glass just from the aluminum body, which is equipped with an automatic pilot, two-way radio telephone and a radio "homing" device. Quarters are provided for 10 men. The retractable landing wheels have air brakes.

TYPHOON STRIKES FORMOSA,
100 SHIPS RUSH TO SHELTER

It Is Feared Storm Will Sweep Most Popular Districts of Island.

By the Associated Press.
TAIPEI, Formosa, July 29.—More than 100 ships, including one with 160 passengers aboard, sought shelter tonight in Keelung, the principal port of Formosa, from a typhoon reported approaching.

The typhoon late tonight had struck the east coast of Formosa, interrupting wire service, and fears were held, since it was of unusual severity, that it might sweep over the most populous districts in the north. Police wired all local governments to post an emergency guard throughout the night.

MANILA, P. I., July 29.—Some sections of downtown Manila were under water for several hours today, and inter-island shipping was disturbed as a result of a typhoon and high tides. The tail end of a typhoon, moving in the direction of Formosa, struck the Philippines, causing damage. The steamship Venus, 554 tons net, lost a propeller and was forced to signal herself in distress. Today the vessel was being towed into Manila.

ARMY AIR DEFENSE BILL IS SENT TO PRESIDENT

Senate Passes Measure to Establish Six Bases; Cost Estimated at $110,000,000.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—The Senate today passed and sent to the President the Wilcox bill authorizing the establishment of six army air defense bases in the United States and Alaska. The bill carries no appropriation, but the cost, to be provided for later, has been estimated at $110,000,000.

The air bases would be used as permanent stations for peace-time training of the air force and for defense against invasion.

In selecting the sites, the War Department is directed by the bill to consider the Atlantic Northeast, Atlantic Southeast and Caribbean areas, the Southeastern states, the Pacific Northwest, Alaska and the Rocky Mountain area.

SUES TO RECOVER
ESTATE PROPERTY,
CHARGING FRAUD

Mrs. Henry Le Fort Asks for Review of Deals of Late Philip R. Rabenau as Children's Guardian.

SHE CHARGES PLOT TO COVER THEM UP

Says Rabenau Advanced $1447 to Lawyer, Burt Kaemmerer, With Which He Paid Own Fine.

Mrs. Henry LeFort, widow of a war veteran, filed suit in Clayton Circuit Court today, asking for a review and a reversal of transactions by which, she alleged, $1447, or more than one-third of the inheritance of her three children, was taken from them.

She alleged in her suit that the late Philip R. Rabenau, a Justice of the Peace and guardian of the three LeFort children, advanced the $1447 to Burt A. Kaemmerer, damage suit lawyer, who used the money in paying the balance of a $2000 fine in Federal Court.

Mrs. LeFort asserted that Kaemmerer knew where the money came from, that he gave deeds of trust to Rabenau on two pieces of property at the time of the alleged advance of money, and that the property has since been transferred from Rabenau's estate, thereby depriving the LeFort children of their rightful belongings.

Seeks Judgments.
Mrs. LeFort asks that the conveyances of property from Rabenau's estate be set aside, that an accounting of Rabenau's handling of the estate be ordered, and for judgment of $1000 against Kaemmerer, with knowledge that Rabenau's widow, Edna Mae Kaemmerer, and other persons mentioned in connection with the property transfers.

Justice Rabenau was murdered last December, together with Dr. William E. Poole, by Raymond Batson, Negro, now under sentence of death for the murder of Dr. Poole. Last May it was shown that Rabenau's accounts in the LeFort estate, which should have totaled $3892, were short by $1329.

Mrs. LeFort, in her suit, mentions the fact that in 1933 Kaemmerer was fined $2000 by Judge Fairis for failure to make a Federal income tax return, and that he paid the fine in three installments, the last one, including costs, being $1447. She alleges that this money was obtained from Rabenau by Kaemmerer, with knowledge that it had been taken from the LeFort estate; and that Kaemmerer conveyed to Rabenau a lot in Castlewood Camp and another at 5026 Lenox avenue, Shrewsbury.

Mrs. Rabenau Filed Report.
After the murder of Rabenau, Mrs. LeFort was named guardian of her children, and Mrs. Rabenau filed a report showing her husband's shortage. The suit alleges that Mrs. Rabenau, entering into an arrangement with William A. Granville, "held a purported and fictitious sale" of the Shrewsbury property, which Granville purchased at foreclosure.

Kaemmerer and his former wife could not be reached today for statements as to the allegations in the suit. Mrs. Rabenau, the only one of the defendants who was reached, declined to discuss the case.

The Castlewood Camp property, the suit continues, was transferred by Mrs. Rabenau to Raymond Klein and wife, and by them conveyed to Tony Kaemmerer and wife, who in turn transferred it to Frank J. Fromm and Carl Fromm. All of these sales, it is alleged, were made without consideration for the purpose of concealing assets of the LeFort children's estate.

The lawyer, who formerly had offices in the Paul Brown Building, latterly has made his headquarters at 4337 Olive street. During the course of the Government prosecution of Kaemmerer for violation of the income tax law, it was disclosed that he had had a lucrative law business. The gross income of his firm, Burt A. Kaemmerer & Associates, was $63,906 in 1929, it was stated at the time by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

KILLING OF 60 IN CLASH REPORTED

Rome Government Checks Up on Ethiopian Dispatch Although Expressing Doubt About It.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, July 29.—Premier Mussolini, who celebrated his fifty-second birthday today, ordered seven representatives to Geneva for a League of Nations Council session which will deal with Italy's dispute with Ethiopia.

Six members of the Italian delegation will start for Switzerland tonight. Their chief, Baron Pompeo Aloisi, will leave tomorrow.

In announcing the departure of the delegation, which is virtually the same which sat in the meeting at Geneva May 25, when arrangements were made for Wednesday's session, a Government spokesman said the sending of the delegation once again proved that Italy wished to do everything possible to remain within the framework of the League in its quarrel with Ethiopia.

He re-emphasized that Italy expected the Council conversations to be held along the lines of the Italian note of acceptance of the Council's convocation. Italy specified that the Council limit its discussion to the theme of revising the program of the Italian-Ethiopian conciliation commission.

He said, however, that the Italian delegation had received only general instructions, and that any modification of the Italian attitude would have to depend on the developments in the Council.

Reported Clash.
The spokesman said the Government today requested its Minister to Addis Ababa and the high commissioner at Asmara to clarify reports of an incident published in a London newspaper as a dispatch from Addis Ababa.

The London report said 40 Italians and 20 Ethiopians were killed in an attack by Ethiopians against the Italian military post at Ukkait (Wakait) several weeks ago. The attack was reported as having occurred after the Italians had diverted from its course a stream passing through the town.

The spokesman said the Italian Government doubted the authenticity of the casualty report, inasmuch as an incident of such a serious nature would have been reported to the Government long before this.

Mussolini at Work in Country.
Mussolini worked at his country retreat at Rocca delle Carmine today.

Ethiopia's refusal to concur in an Italian proposal that the conciliation commission be confined to discussion of frontier incidents was viewed as jeopardizing hope for a peaceful settlement.

Fulvio Svelto, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, flew to Rocca delle Carmine after a conference with Sir Eric Drummond, British Ambassador to Rome.

It was understood the Geneva meeting might be subject to decisions reached at the conversations between Sir Eric and Svelto.

Diplomats, however, said faith in British intercession had been so undermined by the persistent anti-British campaign in the Italian press that there was little expectation that Sir Eric's efforts would prove useful.

Scant Hope of Success.
In the light of the Ethiopian attitude that the conciliation commission should have unlimited scope, Italian sources said there was little hope that the League Council session would justify its convocation.

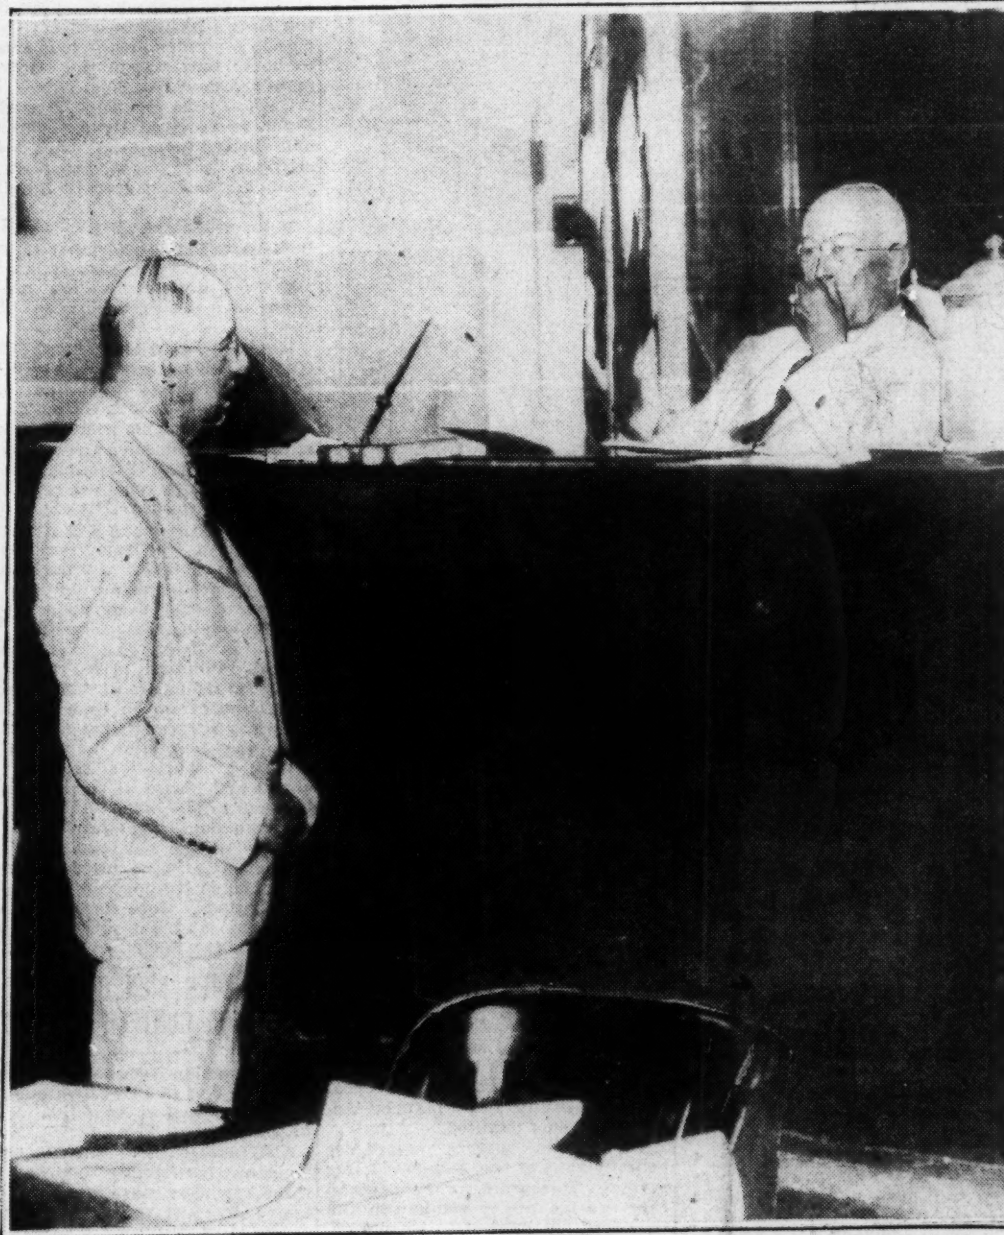

Mussolini's newspaper, Popolo d'Italia, of Milan, said Italy's historic hour had come, bringing with it "life or death, now or never" for the country.

The newspaper said Fascist Italy "under a prodigious superhuman tension feels its historic hour. The Italian people have but one permanent duty and that is to obey and march on—if necessary against everything and against everyone."

Although Italian delegates are going to the League Council session, informed sources said Italy would show little hesitation in sacrificing its place in the League in the cause of Fascist glory. Unofficial sources conceded that this sacrifice might involve Italy's withdrawal from the League.

Mention of Birthday.
Italian newspapers did not mention Mussolini's anniversary. A Continued on Page 2, Column 6.

TWO CONGRESSMEN
HURT ON PLANE TOUR

McSwain and Schaefer Injured on Way East After Scott Field Visit.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—The airplane tour of House Military Affairs Committee members to Louisville, Ky., and Scott Field at Belleville, Ill., has ended with two casualties.

Chairman John J. McSwain (Dem.), South Carolina, is in Walter Reed Hospital suffering from lacerations on the arm and a sprained neck. Representative Ed Schaefer (Dem.), Illinois, has painful bruises on the body and a lacerated nose.

They were flying in different planes, but both were injured shortly after leaving Dayton, O., yesterday afternoon when they flew into storms about 35 miles east of Columbus.

McSwain was injured when he brushed against an electric light as his plane struck a downward air current. The pilot, Capt. George E. McGregor, managed to bring the plane to Washington.

The plane in which Schaefer was traveling fell about 2000 feet from an altitude of 10,000 before it could be brought under control by the pilot, W. L. Ritchie. It immediately returned to Dayton, from which the $4,880,000 works relief fund took trains back to Washington.

All of the occupants of the plane in which Schaefer was riding were likewise bruised in the fall. It was reported that the radio operator was temporarily thrown to the ceiling of the plane. During the fall, occupants of the plane, none of whom was strapped to his seat, went flying about the cabin along with baggage, parachutes and other articles.

Schaefer, on landing at Dayton again, got a bottle of soda water in taking off the cap, it flew up, cutting the tip of his nose.

The Congressmen and Assistant Secretary of War Woodring inspected Scott Field yesterday morning in connection with the Army's application for $3,378,748 from the $4,880,000 works relief fund to rebuild the air post.

Nona expressed himself officially. Lieutenant-Colonel Frank M. Kennedy, commandant, showed them the dilapidated condition of the barracks, built as temporary structures during the World War, and the need for a modern hospital, officers' quarters, hangars, sprinklers, a chapel, fire house, railroad spur, aprons and machine gun butts.

10-YEAR SENTENCE FOR LAWYER FOR URSCHER KIDNAPER

U. S. Judge at Oklahoma City Fixes Punishment of Ben B. Laska, Convicted of Conspiracy.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., July 29.—Ben B. Laska, Denver attorney, convicted of conspiracy in the $200,000 Charles F. Urscher kidnaping, today was sentenced to 10 years in prison by United States District Judge Edgar S. Vaught.

Judge Vaught sentenced Laska after overruling a motion for a new trial.

Defense attorneys indicated they would appeal immediately to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals at Denver.

Laska was convicted June 15 of accepting part of the $200,000 ransom as fees for defending Albert Bates, convicted kidnaper. The jury left the sentence to Judge Vaught.

Laska's star witness, Mrs. Molly O. Edison, Denver attorney, was arrested for perjury immediately after the jury returned its verdict in Laska's case, and three Government witnesses who admitted their guilt and aided the prosecution were given paroles from five-year prison sentences.

They were Mrs. Clara Feldman, the woman Bates married three months before his arrest; her son, Edward, and her brother-in-law, Alvin Scott.

In addition to the Urscher case, Laska defended persons accused in the Boettcher, Bohn and Hamm abductions.

Tears rolled down Laska's cheeks as he stood, arms outstretched, pleading with the Judge to "be reasonable."

"The Court is of the opinion that the evidence was sufficient to support the verdict of the jury," the Judge said. "The question of whether the jury should believe certain witnesses was a matter for the jury and not the Court."

Laska said: "Judge, all I can say is, be reasonable. An innocent man is going to be sentenced. That's all I can say. I'm innocent. This is a terrible thing for me after 27 years in this business. Please, Judge, be reasonable."

Judge Vaught replied: "There are always a great many embarrassing functions the Court must perform. One of these is passing sentence. On the other hand, an offense has been committed."

The attorney remained free on a $10,000 bond pending determination of the appeal.

Wire Asking Hearst, in Whose Papers He Spent $23,000 in Advertising, to Fight Holding Company Bill Shown.

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—Howard C. Hopson, "master mind" of the vast Associated Gas & Electric Co., milked it to the tune of $560,000 a year through the depression, by the device of personal corporations from which Associated Gas purchased various services. This fact was disclosed today before the Senate Lobby Investigating Committee, which also heard that its investigators had been unable to find Hopson.

Several Associated Gas executives and employees were called, but they could shed no light on his whereabouts. They told the committee they had tried to find him, but without success.

"Does he often do this disappearing act?" Senator Minton (Dem.), Indiana, asked. "It's not unusual," replied William Partridge, Hopson's secretary.

It developed that although the company spent $700,000 in its effort to defeat the bill, abolishing unnecessary utility holding companies, no correspondence on the subject remains in its files. None of the officials could explain this.

"Have you reported Mr. Hopson's disappearance to the authorities?" Senator Schwellenbach (Dem.), Washington, asked Partridge. The witness said he had not.

"Where does he usually go when he disappears?" "I don't know," "He doesn't keep in touch with his office?" "He doesn't have to—the office runs itself."

Texas Editor Testifies.
Carl Estes, publisher of Longview, Tex., who made a radio speech against the bill, said that he received no compensation from the Texas Power & Light Co., or its president, John W. Carpenter. The company pays him $225 a month for advertising, he said.

Estes, who had made a public statement about "blackening Senator Black's eye," came to the stand in a belligerent humor, but when he started to make a speech, Schwellenbach called him to order. The immediate proximity of a pair of husky young Capitol policemen also seemed to have a tranquilizing effect.

At the end of his testimony, Estes asked the committee for a statement into the record. He had previously distributed copies at the press table. Black declined to hear it.

"All right, Senator, I'm a better sport than you are," Estes remarked, as he left the witness stand.

UTILITY BILL ROW TAKEN BEFORE HOUSE

Vote on Huddleston Proposal to Bar Outsiders From Conference Is Blocked.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—A resolution asking the House to vote on whether to insist that Benjamin Cohen, Public Works Administration attorney, and all other outsiders be excluded from the conference committee considering the utility holding company bill, was introduced today by Representative Huddleston (Dem., Alabama).

Sessions thus far of the Senate and House conferees attempting to reconcile differences over the legislation have broken up in a row over whether Cohen should be permitted to sit in on the meetings. The Senate insists on his right to do so and a majority of the House members dispute this.

Huddleston told the House the Senators were "obdurate" in refusing the House conferees an executive session unattended by an outsider. Representative Cooper (Rep., Ohio, and Holmes (Rep., Massachusetts, have sided with Huddleston.

A vote was blocked today when Speaker Byrnes upheld a point of order raised by Representative Rankin (Dem., Mississippi, against the resolution.

During a sharp debate on his resolution, Huddleston charged that it was impossible for the House conferees to give full and fair consideration to the legislation with outsiders present.

Cooper criticized Chairman Wheeler of the Senate conferees and said Wheeler had admitted in the conference he did not know enough about the bill to consider it intelligently without Cohen at his side.

Their Flight.

Richard G. Wall, manager of the Forest Park Field House, was held up by two armed men as he left the building last night and was bound to a chair after he had been forced to admit the robbers and open a safe from which they took $1636 collected from various park concessions.

"I had just locked up and had entered my automobile parked north of the field house when two men walked up, one on each side of the machine," Wall told police.

"Wait a minute," one said. "I inquired what he wanted."

"You know; get out," he answered, prodding me in the ribs with a pistol as he opened the door. "Punching me in the back with their pistols, they marched me to the door, which I opened. They warned me not to look at them."

"Inside, they forced me to work the combination of the safe and open the inside compartment with my key. Then they tied me to a chair and left. I think I heard a third man moving about the room, but I didn't get a good look at any of them."

After freeing himself, Wall found the wires had been torn from the telephone to prevent his calling police. Another telephone in the basement was not damaged.

Three men and two women attempted to hold up Wall at the field house but were frightened away.

Contaminated water, which killed hundreds of fish last week in the Illinois River south of Peoria, Ill., since the Hiram Walker Distillery fire there last Monday, reached Alton yesterday morning.

Half-suffocated fish, seeking oxygen, struggled just below the surface of the water, and large numbers swam in close to the levee, where waders took catches in dip-nets and baskets, or forming a line from shore, hand-scooped the fish up on the levee.

G. L. Kuhlman, Deputy Game Warden at Beardstown, where the same condition prevailed last Thursday, attributed the contamination to marsh and other refuse which flowed into the river at Peoria, as a result of the fire. Dead fish began to appear in the river south of Peoria shortly after the fire, Kuhlman said.

The contaminated condition has passed at Beardstown, however.

At Hardin and Grafton the condition appeared Saturday. Market fishermen at Grafton, where the Illinois empties into the Mississippi, said they found their nets full of dead fish and had to give up fishing for several days. At Hardin, partly suffocated fish were pulled from the river with garden rakes and poles on which a cross-piece had been nailed.

TWO KILLED IN HOLDUP IN CHICAGO STATION LOBBY

Robber and Elevator Operator Dead, Detective Wounded at Northwestern Depot.

CHICAGO, July 29.—A robber and an elevator operator are dead and a policeman gravely wounded after a holdup and pistol fight in the lobby of the Chicago & Northwestern Railroad station early today.

The elevator operator, Dr. H. Kell, 46 years old, was killed when he sought to block the robbers' flight from a lobby drug store, scene of the holdup. He was shot down as he held the glass store door closed from the outside.

Four men took part in the hold-up. One, Sam Manno, 22, was wounded by policemen and died in Bridewell Hospital. The other three escaped. Detective James Frawley was struck in the face by a bullet.

All the shooting occurred in the broad lobby of the station, just after midnight, and was witnessed by dozens of passengers bound for late suburban trains. They scurried for cover as the bullets thudded against the walls.

NEGRO KILLS COUSIN IN ROW OVER AUTOMOBILE TAIL LIGHT

Harry Clark Shoots Edward Clark on Tony Finazzo Farm in St. Charles County.

Harry and Edward Clark, Negroes, who lived on the farm of Tony Finazzo in St. Charles County, quarreled again yesterday and Harry shot and killed Edward, his cousin.

The last time they had a serious quarrel, on July 11, Sheriff Phelps was called to the farm, and happened to reach there at a time when five extortionists were demanding money from Finazzo. The unexpected arrival of the Sheriff and a deputy caused some shooting and one of the extortionists, Tony Eusacki, was killed by his companions.

Yesterday's quarrel was over who owned the tail light of an automobile. The Sheriff's office said Harry shot his cousin in the arm when he was shot.

Edward Clark was about 40 years old.

DR. LOHR SUGGESTED AS COUNTY HOSPITAL HEAD

Chamber of Commerce Committee Wants V. Ray Alexander as Assistant.

Appointment of Dr. Curtis H. Lohr as superintendent of St. Louis County Hospital was suggested to the County Court today by the Chamber of Commerce Committee which the court asked to make a recommendation.

Previously the committee had suggested appointment of V. Ray Alexander, formerly superintendent of City Hospital, as superintendent of the County Hospital, with the duties of business manager. The report today proposed that Dr. Lohr be designated as superintendent, and Alexander as assistant superintendent. Dr. Lohr's duties would be those of medical director.

Dr. Lohr was Hospital Commissioner of St. Louis under Mayor Miller, and was succeeded by Dr. Ralph Thompson when the Dickinson administration came into office. He lives at 6336 Pernod avenue, and has an office at Grand boulevard and Gravois avenue.

Members of Committee.

The Chamber of Commerce committee, whose members were L. Wade Childress, James A. Caseton, and M. C. Bay, delegated the task of recommending a superintendent to a committee consisting of Dr. Everts A. Graham, professor of surgery at Washington University Medical School; Dr. Llewellyn Sale, chief of the medical staff of Jewish Hospital, and the Rev. Alphons M. Schwitalla, S. J., dean of St. Louis University Medical School.

The recommendation of this subcommittee was approved by the Chamber of Commerce committee, and transmitted by it to the County Court.

It was suggested that Dr. Lohr receive a salary of $4000 a year, plus maintenance at the residence of the superintendent on the grounds of the hospital, and that he be permitted to continue his private practice on such evenings as would be required.

The new superintendent, the report said, should have reasonable assurance of permanency of tenure so that he would feel free to undertake a program for development of the hospital and correction of conditions there which have been criticized.

Non-Partisan Board Urged.

The committee suggested that the court appoint a non-partisan board of 15 citizens to consult the court on matters concerning the hospital.

The court is expected to appoint a superintendent this week. Dr. Raymond Usher has been acting superintendent since the ouster a month ago of Dr. Edwin L. Sheahan.

TWO MEN KILLED IN AUTO WRECKS IN THE COUNTY

Albert Vit Thrown Through Top of Car That Runs Off Gravois Road — Companion Injured.

Two men were killed in automobile accidents in St. Louis County yesterday and early today.

Albert Vit, 52-year-old musician, 5417A Tennessee avenue, was killed when he was thrown through the top of an automobile which ran off Gravois road, near Lindbergh boulevard, and hit a stump at 2:20 a. m. today.

He was riding with Henry Kuna, a musician, 1832 South Eleventh street, who also went through the top of the machine. Persons living nearby called Sheriff's deputies, who found the dead beside the wreck, and Kuna unconscious from a spinal injury. Kuna, taken to St. Louis County Hospital, was unable to discuss the accident, which occurred during a picnic yesterday, and were on their way home.

Jack Ramsey, 35 years old, a mechanic, 1112 Chambers street, died at 4 a. m. today at Dr. Tiernon's Hospital in Pine Lawn of a broken neck suffered yesterday afternoon when his automobile skidded off Lucas and Hunt road and rolled down an embankment. Five children, ranging in age from 11 to 16 years, riding with him were unhurt.

Witnesses reported that Ramsey was driving north at 3:30 p. m. about half a mile north of Natural Bridge road when two machines approached abreast. Although one car swung behind the other, Ramsey applied his brakes so hard his car skidded for about 100 feet, swerved down a 15-foot embankment and upset.

18-Month-Old Child Killed by Ice Truck at Belleville

Franklin Reicks, 18-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Reicks, 224 South Charles street, Belleville, was killed today when he was run over by an ice truck in an alley between Charles and Abend streets, Belleville.

Leo Loos, driver of the truck, told police that his truck was parked in the alley to make a delivery. When he came out, he said, he told several children who were around to get away from the truck. He had just started up, he said, when the screams of the children warned him that one had been hit.

Franklin apparently was knocked down by the rear fender. He died on the way to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. His father is unemployed.

Boy, 6, Dies After Being Hit by Auto at Oakdale, Ill.

Herman Fox, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver M. Fox of Oakdale, Ill., died last night at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Belleville, of a skull injury suffered when he was struck by an automobile near his home yesterday morning. Oakdale is about 60 miles southeast of St. Louis.

The boy was riding in his father's automobile when he was struck by the machine. The father, who was driving, was pushed to the car off the highway. Herman was struck by an automobile going in the other direction. He was taken to the hospital at Belleville, but never regained consciousness.

An inquest will be held at Belleville Friday, at which William Mazander of Oakdale, driver of the machine which struck the boy, has been ordered to appear.

Six Persons Injured in Two Col- lisions.

Paul Harter, 5454 Hamilton avenue, Pine Lawn, suffered a fractured arm and abrasions in an automobile collision at 8900 Natural Bridge road early today.

He was riding with Hiram Wellman, also of Pine Lawn, whose car collided with another driven by William Justice of St. Charles. Justice and Wellman were cut and bruised.

Three women were hurt in an automobile collision at Highway 77 and St. John's Church road, St. Louis County, yesterday morning. Miss Frieda Klund, residing near Jefferson Barracks, driver of one machine, is in Lutheran Hospital with a skull injury. Miss Pauline Sonderman, Fredericktown, Mo., a passenger in the second car, is in St. Louis County Hospital with skull and spinal injuries. Miss Opal Turnbull of Fredericktown, the other driver, suffered cuts and bruises of the face. Four children riding with Mrs. Klund escaped injury.

COURT ORDERS AUTO SALESMAN NOT TO DRIVE FOR SIX MONTHS

Driver Given Alternative of 30 Days in Workhouse for Operating Car When Intoxicated.

Edward Leaver, an automobile salesman, 4739 Ashland avenue, was ordered by Police Judge Vest today to refrain from driving his automobile for the next six months, as punishment for driving while intoxicated. Leaver was given the choice of either spending 30 days in the Workhouse or not driving for six months and chose the latter.

Leaver admitted he had been fined $125 for driving while intoxicated two and a half years ago. His more recent offense occurred early in the morning of July 22, when his automobile collided with two parked cars at 1907 Marcus avenue. He admitted he had been drinking before the accident.

CITY HOSPITAL PRISONER WALKS AWAY, ESCAPES

Swindler Under Federal Charge Disappears After Return From Visit to His Attorney.

Police and Federal authorities were searching today for Lloyd H. Kingsbury, swindler under indictment for mail fraud, who was held in the prison ward at City Hospital until Saturday evening when he walked out of the building, unnoticed, and escaped.

Kingsbury, in custody of Deputy United States Marshal Cudmore, had visited the office of his attorney, Thomas H. Rowe Jr. on Saturday afternoon, as he was permitted to do under authority of an order of the United States District Court.

When they got back to the hospital, about 6 o'clock, Cudmore turned the prisoner over to a stretcher bearer, Benjamin Gilham, and went his way. Gilham paid no particular attention to Kingsbury, but recalled later that he had seen him go to an ante-room in the receiving department where a nurse gave him a treatment for diabetes.

The nurse recalled that Kingsbury had made some joking remark about his intention to go to a ball game. Later Gilham saw Kingsbury loitering around the ambulance entrance to the hospital, but did not feel called upon to escort him back to the prison ward, he said.

No one paid any further attention to the prisoner and not until 9 o'clock yesterday morning was it noticed that he was missing. His absence was reported then to Lieut. Charles Busch of the Souldard Street Police Station.

Kingsbury, who was 55 years old, was arrested in Detroit last April on a charge of using the mails to defraud Miss Ethel Ratz, 4932 Murdoch avenue, of $3334. He had been a patient in the prison ward of the hospital since May 21.

A notorious confidence man, twice a convict, Kingsbury met Miss Ratz on a downtown street, and when she mistook him for the uncle of a former schoolmate, was quick to take advantage of the situation, he said.

He represented that he was in the oil business and offered to help her make some investments. In return for her money she got worthless oil leases.

Secret Records on Place Where the Lusitania Sank

Orphir Salvage Expedition Has Information Which for 20 Years Has Been Suppressed by British Admiralty.

By GILBERT McALLISTER.
(Copyright, 1935.)
ABOARD SALVAGE SHIP ORPHIR, Off Old Head of Kinsale, Ireland, July 29.—Facts hidden in the secret archives of the British Admiralty for the past 20 years were disclosed yesterday when Capt. Henry Dell Russell of the salvage ship Orphir permitted the first examination of the Lusitania files by a newspaper man.

The documents include the log book of Capt. Schweiger, commander of the U-20, which torpedoed and sank the big Cunard passenger liner, sending 1104 men and women and 94 children to their deaths, and an important letter from William Turner, pilot of the U-boat, who has placed his knowledge at the disposal of this salvage expedition.

The documents also have in his possession the confidential statements of Capt. William Thomas Turner, commander of the Lusitania.

From these documents has been gathered an account of the Lusitania sinking that is believed to be more complete than any obtained by official quarters either in the United States or Great Britain. It is a story of horror, high courage and careless confidence.

This expedition ought to determine whether the sinking was, as Sir Edward Carson declared "a premeditated design to murder people on board," or whether the Lusitania did indeed carry such munitions as would justify Germany in sinking the ship.

What this expedition is concerned with immediately is finding the wreck. With all available sources of information, it would appear that the exact spot where the Lusitania went down must be known, but it is not. Chief Officer Bessie of the Orphir contributes one curious fact. He was third officer on the Lusitania when it sank. Just before the torpedo smashed into the engines, Bessie was on the Lusitania bridge endeavoring to take a four-point bearing. That operation was never completed. Consequently the exact spot where the liner went down must be guessed.

The best guess is likely to be predicated on the report of Capt. Turner. Turner fixed the position at 8:30 north—51-23 north—about 30 miles from Brow Head, 22 miles from Baltimore Bay, 25 miles from Galley Head and 22 miles from Cape Clear. Turner also said that the Lusitania probably traveled two to three miles on its momentum from the time it was struck until it went down. The Lusitania's course was about south 87 east magnetic.

It is along this east that Capt. Russell of the Orphir is operating. He has put up buoys with white flags to indicate possible spots. It is possible, in these seas with their history of lost ships, the expedition will bring back a long record of disasters, but the divers are not going down until the Lusitania is found.

CHARGE OF LIQUOR SELLING ON SUNDAY AGAINST TWO MEN

Police Raid Vienna Club, 814 North Kingshighway; Slot Machine Seized.

Police last night raided the Vienna Club, 814 North Kingshighway, and booked two men, Thomas and Robert Evans, 3117 Longfellow boulevard, for selling liquor on Sunday.

The officers reported that three men and two women in the place were drinking highballs and beer. A nickel slot machine in the place was seized.

Robbers Beat Man With Pistol.
Arthur Harned, 1605 South Broadway, was struck on the head with a pistol by one of two Negroes who held him up last night at Broadway and Barry street, robbing him of $6 and a watch. He was treated for a scalp wound at City Hospital.

MAN RETURNED FROM VIRGINIA ADMITS PART IN HOLDUP HERE

Robert Shaw, Negro, Accused by Former Companion of Store
Robbery in 1934.

Robert Shaw, 20-year-old Negro, arrested last week at Danville, Va., and returned to St. Louis, admitted, police reported, that he participated in the drug store holdup at 2035 Franklin avenue, Jan. 7, 1934, in which Anthony Billie, a customer, was shot and killed.

Nathaniel Stevenson, a Negro, is serving a life sentence in the Missouri penitentiary for the murder. He maintained that Shaw fired the shot killing Billie. Shaw, in his statement, said Stevenson did the shooting. He was identified by Frank Severin, an employee of the store at the time of the holdup. Shaw formerly lived near East St. Louis.

FARMER SHOOTS MAN IN CHICKEN HOUSE

Seriously Wounded Victim Says He Is Charles Weeks
of St. Louis.

A man who said he was Charles Weeks, of 2961A Sarpy avenue, was shot and wounded seriously early today in the chicken house of Wenker Meyer, a farmer, on Highway No. 61, in Lincoln County.

A bullet struck him in the back, below the heart. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in St. Charles.

Meyer said he was awakened about 2:15 a. m. by a noise in his chicken house. He obtained his revolver, he said, and went to the chicken house, where he found Weeks, with two chickens in his hand and six sacks of chickens beside him.

The farmer ordered Weeks to walk out in front of him, he said, but as they neared the door, Weeks started to run. Meyer called on him to halt, and when he kept running, fired one shot.

Weeks was unable to make a statement.

11 BOYS RUN AWAY FROM BELLEFONTAINE FARMS

Police Catch Three Near City Limits and Return Them to Institution.

Eleven Negro boys fled early last night from Bellefontaine Farms, where they were held on charges of delinquency.

The boys, 14 and 15 years old, slipped away at dusk and their absence was discovered at 8:30 bed check. Police later caught three of the fugitives on a road near the northern city limits and returned them to the institution.

LEAGUE COMMITTEE FAILS TO ACT ON PUNITIVE MEASURE

Report Suggested Punishment for Nations Which Repudiate Treaties.

(Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.)
GENEVA, July 29.—The League of Nations special committee, named to study measures of punishment for nations which repudiate treaties, adjourned today in a stalemate.

The committee, composed of 13 members, was created as a response to Germany's repudiation of the military clauses of the Versailles treaty. It failed to act on a subcommittee report suggesting that offending nations might be deprived of the possibility of importing war materials and products essential to the manufacture of armaments and might also be deprived of financial credits.

PAYROLLS UP, NUMBER OF WORKERS FEWER

Records for May, 1935, and 1934 Compared by Labor Statistics Bureau.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 29.—The major manufacturing industries had a higher payroll but employed 108,800 fewer workers in May this year than in May, 1934, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports. The number dropped from 6,912,600 to 6,803,800.

Payrolls increased $2,750,000 in the same period. The aggregate payrolls of the 15 manufacturing groups surveyed increased from $136,575,000 to $139,325,000 during the year.

Those industries which found it necessary to employ more people in May this year included plants making machinery, transportation equipment, nonferrous metals, papers and printing and chemicals. Their payrolls also increased.

In three industries the payrolls increased although the number of workers decreased. They were lumber, stone, clay and glass and textiles.

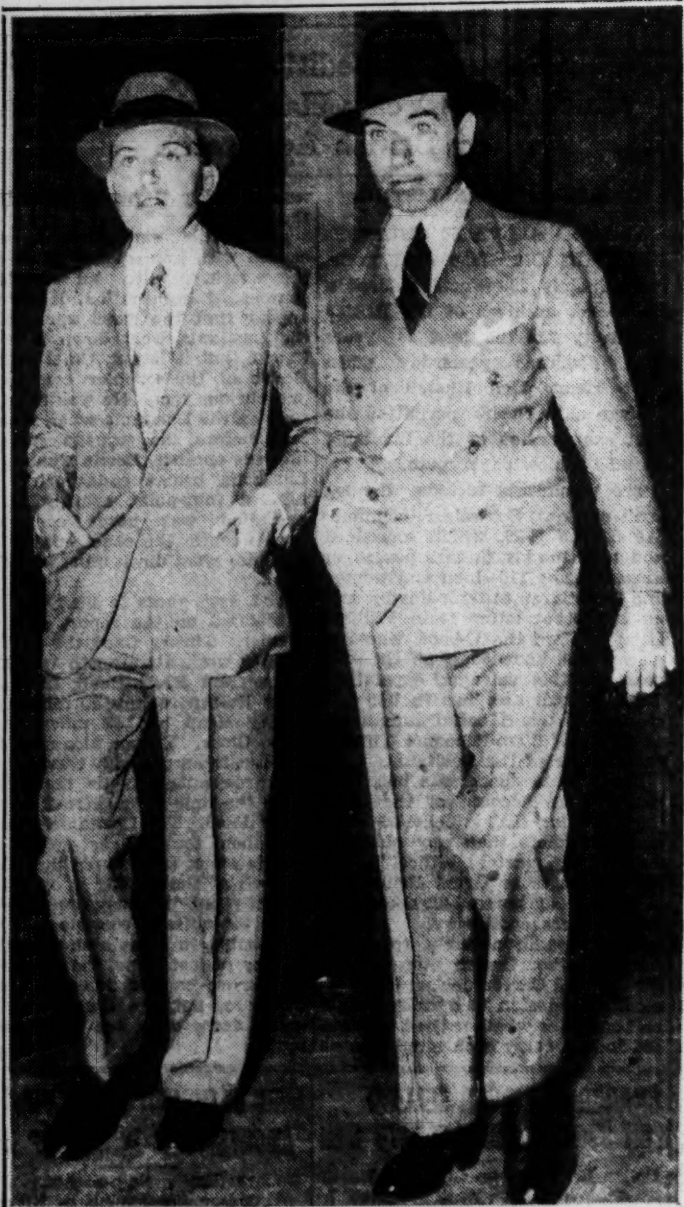

Most of the decline occurred between April and May of this year, the figures show. There were 6500 fewer persons working in factories in April as compared with the total in that month last year, and those at work were earning $7,500,000 more than those a year ago.

Those employed in making tires and inner tubes were working the shortest week, 30.5 hours. That group also made the highest hourly wages, 83 1/2 cents.

The longest working week was a 40-hour one in slaughtering and meat packing. The lowest hourly wages, 38 cents an hour, were paid in cotton goods factories.

HEAT HOTTER THAN SUN IS REPORTED

Temperature of Electric Welding Arcs Measured With New Camera.

By the Associated Press. SCHENECTADY, N. Y., July 29.—Discovery that man-made heat has surpassed that of the sun, is reported to have been made with a new camera at the General Electric Co.

Movies in theaters are flashed on the screen by light from a flaming carbon arc which is 400 degrees hotter than the surface of the sun, the researchers report, and in some welding arcs the heat flashes momentarily several thousand degrees stronger than the sun.

The discoveries are the result of accurately measuring for the first time the temperatures of the hottest electric arcs—the spurt of flame between two electrodes of various kinds of metal.

The highest previously measured heat was that of the copper arc, about 6800 degrees Fahrenheit, compared with 9000 degrees of the sun's surface. Nothing was known about the newly found arc temperatures, and it was commonly supposed they were much lower.

Temperatures of Arcs.
The common carbon arc, used in most movie theaters, for searchlights, and for illuminating the entrances at first nights, has a temperature of 9400 degrees.

The Tungsten arc burns at 11,300 degrees Fahrenheit. In certain welding arcs the hot core stands at 10,300 degrees. The noisy sputter of some of these arcs is made by heat flares which may jump to more than 13,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

The camera reads the temperature by photographing a sound wave in the flaming gas of the arc. The sound is made by a loud spark at one end of the arc. The sound travels the length of the arc, visible as an extra glow, a real wave of light. The hotter the arc the faster the speed of the sound it carries. This is based on known laws of physics for the speed of sound in a gas.

Speed of Wave Photographed.
In the electric arcs the sound travels at a mile or more a second. The camera "stops" this wave, and photographs its speed, by aid of a little revolving mirror. The mirror makes accurate exposures lasting only one two-millionth of a second.

Dr. Chauncey Guy Suits of the Research Laboratory devised the new method of measuring intense temperatures. The camera readings, checked against arcs of known temperature, proved accurate. Further proof of accuracy came from measuring these same sound waves by electrical methods. Other temperatures previously known are: Bunsen burner, 3400 Fahrenheit; coal gas flame, 3600; oxy-hydrogen flame, 5000, and oxy-acetylene flame, 6300.

46,000 NOW ENGAGED IN SOIL EROSION WORK IN 230 CAMPS

Plans Call for 112,000 Workers; Locations of 37 New Projects Are Announced.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 29.—The force combating soil erosion now includes more than 46,000 Civilian Conservation Corps workers. These men and boys, Director Robert Fechner said yesterday, represent 230 erosion control camps in 39 states. Plans call for an eventual corps of 112,000 workers, divided among 542 camps. Location of 37 of the new erosion camps which will set up was made public today, with most of them going to Southern and Middle Western states.

Officials said CCC members will assist in construction of check dams, in reforestation and reseeding slopes too deep for safe cultivation, and in construction of diversion ditches and terrace outlets. Locations of the 37 new camps include: Independence County, Arkansas, and Tazewell, Macoupin, Lawrence counties, Illinois.

GERMAN BLONDES WITH JEWISH SWEETHEARTS DYE THEIR HAIR

Some Jewish Girls Bleach Locks to Retain Aryan Friendship.

BERLIN, July 29.—The liberal use of bleaching and dyeing compounds by German girls has developed in the maelstrom caused by the Nazis' new anti-Jewish drive.

Hundreds of German blondes, for example, are dyeing their hair to dark shades, to facilitate continuation of marriage or friendship with non-Aryans. Many Jewish girls married or friendly with Aryan men are taking the opposite course and bleaching their hair.

The average young Nazi looks on all dark-haired persons as "suspects"—despite the fact that Hitler, Goering and Goebbels are all far from the usual Aryan concept of fair.

Thus a Jewess can usually escape scrutiny if she bleaches her hair. With the German girls enamored of non-Aryans, hair-dyeing has the reverse effect.

Town Marshal Kills Man in Fight.
By the Associated Press.

ALTO, Tex., July 29.—City Marshal William Brunt killed Pete Arant last night in a fight with Arant, his brother, John L. Arant, and Garrett Holcomb Jr. John Arant and Holcomb were placed under $1000 bond on charges of assault with intent to murder, and Brunt under $1000 bond on a felony charge. The cause of the shooting was not learned.

WOMAN TO FACE HER ACCUSER IN KILLING

Mrs. Evelyn Smith on Way From New York to Chicago in Airplane.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 29.—Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty is awaiting the return of Mrs. Evelyn Smith from New York City to question her in the presence of Mrs. Blanche Dunkel regarding the killing of Ervin Lang, Mrs. Dunkel's son-in-law.

Dougherty said he expected Mrs. Smith here tonight. She waived extradition in New York today and was started here by plane, accompanied by two Chicago officers.

Mrs. Smith was quoted in New York as denying all knowledge of the killing and expressing the belief that Mrs. Dunkel did it. Mrs. Dunkel, questioned by Dougherty yesterday, held to her story that she promised Mrs. Smith $500 to kill Lang and that later Mrs. Smith reported the job finished and collected $100.

Dougherty said Mrs. Smith's reported alibi was that she left Chicago the day before the dismembered body of Lang, found in a swamp near Hammond, was identified. Mrs. Dunkel was quoted as saying Mrs. Smith told her of identification of the body on July 10, the day after she says she left Chicago.

Mrs. Dunkel denied a further accusation reported made by Mrs. Smith, Dougherty said, in connection with the death of her daughter, Mallie Lang's wife. Mrs. Lang died Dec. 1.

Mrs. Smith in New York Denies Any Part in Lang Murder.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Mrs. Evelyn Smith, accused in the murder of Ervin Lang at Chicago, denied in police lineup today that she had any part in the killing.

Mrs. Smith gave a New York address and said she arrived here July 9. Officers left with her for Chicago by airplane today.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER, 5, DROWNED AT MICHIGAN RESORT

Man Unable to Swim Loses Footing When Wading With Girl on Shoulders in Sand Lake.

By the Associated Press. ADRIAN, Mich., July 29.—William Wheeler, 32 years old, of Dearborn, Mich., and his 5-year-old daughter, were drowned yesterday in Sand Lake.

About an hour after Wheeler with his wife and two children, Laura, 5, and 8-year-old William, arrived at the resort for an outing, the father took the children to the water. Laura was perched on his shoulders as he waded in five feet of water. He lost his footing in the mud on the lake bottom and went down. He was unable to swim. William screamed but other persons nearby thought he was playing. Only when William had dragged his shoulders to the shore and she plunged in again did help come—too late.

STABBED IN LEG, ABDOMEN

Chauffeur Says He Was Attacked

After Giving Man Cigarette.

John Long, a chauffeur, 1804 Wash street, was taken to City Hospital Saturday midnight suffering from stab wounds of the abdomen and leg, which he said were inflicted by an unidentified Negro. Long, who police said had been drinking, reported he was passing the entrance of an alley on Twenty-first street, near Carr street, when the Negro stopped him and asked for a cigarette. He gave the man a cigarette and was stabbed without provocation, Long related.

LABOR PARTY URGED AT MOONEY MEETING

Speakers at San Francisco Say Prisoner Is Martyr to Cause of Workers.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—Defenders of Tom Mooney rallied at a mass meeting here yesterday on the nineteenth anniversary of his imprisonment and shouted approval when speakers said he was a martyr to the cause of organized labor. The throng at the Civic Auditorium, estimated at 8000, cheered Harry Bridges when he charged that Mooney was convicted of the 1916 Preparedness day bombing through manufactured evidence. Bridges, who led a general strike a year ago, declared that other workers were in peril at present from similar frame ups. He urged organization of a labor party to break what he said was political control by big employers.

Mooney, though in San Quentin prison under a life sentence, spoke to the meeting through the medium of talking motion pictures. The picture was taken some time ago and has been shown throughout the country.

Other speakers included the Rev. Gross W. Alexander of Idaho, secretary of the Inter-Religious Committee for Justice for Tom Mooney; Kanju Kato, chairman of the National Trade Union Congress of Japan, and Leo Gallagher, attorney. Telegrams advocating freedom for Mooney, which the Mooney Molders' Defense Committee said were from Gov. Olson of Minnesota, Theodore Dreiser, the author, United States Senator Gerald P. Nye of South Dakota and James J. Walker, former Mayor of New York, were read.

BODY OF MAN BURIED IN WELL RECOVERED

Mattituck, N. Y., Summer Cottage Lost Life Saturday in Earth Slide.

By the Associated Press.
MATTITUCK, N. Y., July 29.—The body of Richard Hojnacki, buried alive when the side of a well in which he was working collapsed Saturday, was recovered today after 42 hours of continuous digging by firemen and neighbors. Frantic efforts Saturday to effect a rescue were balked when the excavations made to reach Hojnacki caved in repeatedly. He was digging a well to provide water for his summer cottage near here when the accident happened. Firemen and others dug all night and all day yesterday. They finally reached Hojnacki's body but before it could be removed another collapse of earth buried it again. Earlier in the day a wooden shaft sunk by rescue workers collapsed and three men narrowly escaped being buried.

Western Union Apologizes to Court.
By the Associated Press.
CHELSEA, Mass., July 29.—The Western Union Telegraph Co., through counsel, apologized to Judge Samuel R. Cutler of the Chelsea District Court today for transmitting telegrams of protest in connection with pending cases involving alleged radicals. Judge Cutler ordered that a $500 fine imposed 10 days ago be remitted.

We refused to buy these Coats in group lots—but went from maker to maker, taking a few here and a few there. In many instances we made changes in the styles and Furs so that Kline customers could be assured of very remarkable Coats for just $27! When you see them you will realize that our efforts were not in vain! New 1936 lines and fashions! Collars, sleeves and flared skirts are so definitely new that last year's Coats look decidedly out of date. We bought only the finest woollens available . . . made sure the linings were above standard . . . and most important—that the Furs were Furs that Kline's would be proud to display!

CCC MAN KILLED, 12 HURT WHEN TRUCK RUNS OFF ROAD

Driver Blinded by Fog on Curve In Highway No. 8, Seven Miles From Potosi.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BERRYMAN, Mo., July 29.—One man was killed and 12 were injured, two seriously, when a truck bearing members of Company 3733, Civilian Conservation Corps, overturned seven miles west of Potosi on Highway No. 8, Saturday night. The driver, blinded when he suddenly drove into a dense bank of fog, pulled into the soft gravel at the edge of the highway in making a curve and the truck, out of control, plunged down an embankment.

Clifford Midgett of Quaker, Mo., was thrown from the rear of the truck. He died of a broken neck. William Teague of Kinsey, Mo., suffered broken ribs and back injuries when pinned beneath the cab. James Payne of Ironton suffered a fractured collar bone and a fractured wrist. Teague and Payne were removed to the Arcadia Valley Hospital at Ironton by CCC ambulance from Berryman. Herscall Scott, Goodwater, Mo., was removed to the Station Hospital, Jefferson Barracks, with a lacerated hand.

Others who received bruises and lacerations are: Asa Poinsett, Bellview, Mo.; Richard Huffman, Lacombe; George Thompson, St. Joseph; Millard Shineman, Salem; Louis Crocker, Goodwater; Raymond Cooley, Salem; Johnnie Stuart, Ross; Ray Reed, Vulcan; Orville Adams, Vulcan; and Herman McClain, Quaker, Mo. They are being treated at the camp hospital at Berryman.

LOS ANGELES RELIEF UNIT TRIES SUBSISTENCE SCHEME

Workers at Factory to Be Paid in Credits Instead of Wages.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 29.—An experiment toward solving the relief problem by enabling unemployed to produce necessities for their own families and other persons on relief rolls has been launched by the Los Angeles County Rehabilitation Department.

Through a highly diversified production plant, the department hopes to provide a living for about 150 families and possibly supply subsistence needs of 400 to 500 other relief cases. The plant will be in operation within a few weeks.

Persons employed in the plant will be given credits for their work which they can exchange for any products or services available there. They will not be paid in actual wages.

The plant will be equipped for meat and cereal processing, fruit dehydration, shoe repairing, clothing manufacture of various sorts, canning, baking and the like. Charles Kunzelman, secretary of the Rehabilitation Department, said today.

KENTUCKY MINE OFFICIAL HELD ON WARRANT CHARGING LAXITY

Arrest Follows Death of Nine Men Recently in Consolidated Coal Co. Shaft.

By the Associated Press.

PAINTSVILLE, Ky., July 29.—John F. Daniel, chief of the State Department of Mines and Minerals, was arrested today at Van Lear on a warrant charging him with failure to enforce safety regulations at the Consolidated Coal Co. mine, where nine miners were killed recently. Daniel was brought to jail here.

Daniel's examining trial was set for 10 a. m. tomorrow before County Judge Burns Conley. The warrant charged that Daniel failed to order the coal company to furnish sufficient fire hoses to inspect the workings.

SOCIAL SERVICE EXCHANGE WORK EXPLAINED BY SPEAKER

Executive Secretary Tells of Clearing Office Duties for Relief Organizations.

The work of the Social Service Exchange, a central clearing office for welfare agencies in St. Louis and vicinity, was explained yesterday in an address over KSD by Miss Mary Alexander, executive secretary of the exchange.

A card file is kept of families and individuals who have applied for help from social and health agencies of St. Louis, St. Louis County and St. Clair County. The system is designed to prevent duplication and conflict, and to aid in planning intelligently for the applicant's need.

The exchange was re-organized in 1922 as a department of the Community Council and its membership now includes about 130 organizations operating under public, private, Catholic and non-Catholic auspices.

GREEN CONDEMNS
HITLER ATTITUDE TOWARD LABORBoycott Proposed by President of A. F. L.—Desires U. S. to Protest Against Actions of Nazis.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, asked the Federal Government last night to take "appropriate action" against the Hitler Government in Germany to stop "brutal, inhuman treatment" of the laboring class.

"In behalf of the American Federation of Labor," Green said in a statement, "I repeat its official protest against the most recent action of the Hitler Government."

"Surely the governing nations which make up the civilized world cannot longer remain indifferent to the action of a tyrant such as Hitler, to his exulting in brutality and fiendish persecution the rulers of a bygone pagan age."

Pressure Through Trade.
"The time has arrived when Germany ought to be boycotted, not only by labor and its friends but by all the people of the United States."

"Furthermore, in the light of historical events it would appear that the hour has arrived when our own Government ought to take appropriate action which the exigencies of the present situation demand, providing for a cessation of the brutal, inhuman treatment being perpetrated upon the laboring people who wish to preserve their democratic trade unions in Germany, and upon the Jewish people and the Catholics."

Green said Hitler's "further drives against the Jews and Catholics" had "vindicated" the A. F. of L.'s action in "declaring a boycott against German goods and German service."

He added:
Promises Aid of Labor.
"Labor in the United States will join with others in taking appropriate action which will enable it to voice its indignation against the tyrannical and inhuman policies pursued by Hitler and the Hitler Government of Germany."

State Department officials meanwhile continued silent on the German situation. Officials said that unless the matter was brought formally to the department, there will be no comment on the official German press service communique that Berlin considered the German-American commercial treaty broken by Mayor La Guardia's refusal to give a masseur's license to a German citizen in New York.

RAT BITES CHILDREN, ATTACKS
FATHER TRYING TO KILL ITGirl and Two Boys Ordered to Hospital; Examination of Rodent for Rabies to Be Made.By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, July 29.—A large gray rat which invaded the home of Richard Vincent yesterday inflicted wounds on three sleeping children and viciously attacked Vincent when he attempted to kill it, he reported to police.

The three children, Irene, 18 years old; Richard Jr., 14, and Wesley, 12, were ordered to a hospital. Irene received a wound in the shoulder from the rodent's teeth, and the two boys were bitten on the arms and hands.

The health officer who investigated said an examination of the rat would be made to determine if it was suffering from rabies.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR TWO KILLED IN BONUS DISORDERS300 Veterans Place Flowers at Scene of Shootings, Then March to Cemetery.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Two hundred war veterans paid tribute yesterday to the memory of William J. Hushka and Eric Carlson, killed three years ago in bonus march disorders.

Led by Howard W. Tower of California, the veterans assembled first for brief services at Pennsylvania and Fourth streets, where the men were shot. Flowers were placed on the ground.

The former soldiers then marched three miles to Arlington Cemetery, where separate services were held at the graves. The Rev. Harvey V. Prentice of Gospel Mission prayed, and Jack Siegel, a former Army Sergeant, blew taps.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED IN FIRE

Mother and One Son Escape From Burning Home at Gay Head, Mass.
GAY HEAD, Mass., July 29.—Two children, brother Mr. Wallace, died several hours later in a hospital at Vineyard Haven. Diamond, a fisherman, was not at home when the frame structure in which the family lived was ignited by clothing near a fire. Mrs. Diamond and another son, Henry, 8, escaped. The rapid spread of the flames prevented Mrs. Diamond from rescuing the other children.

5 KILLED IN AUTO

COLLISION IN OHIO

Two Detectives and Prisoner
Among Victims of Crash Near Bowling Green.

By the Associated Press.

BOWLING GREEN, O., July 29.—Five persons, including two Cleveland detectives and a prisoner, were killed in an automobile collision near here yesterday.

The detectives' car and another auto came together at an intersection 15 miles south of here and rolled 25 feet into a field.

Three of those killed, Harold E. Beingsen, 28 years old, and Harry McCus, 33, the policemen, and the prisoner, Clarence Elderson, 30, of Cleveland, were turning the Bowling Green-Findlay highway from a side road. Coroner Harold White said the detectives apparently failed to heed a stop sign.

The two others killed were William Rinehart, 21, an 11-year-old sister, Carrie, 27, who lived near Findlay. Two other occupants of their automobile which was traveling south of the main highway, were seriously injured.

The detectives had trailed Elderson to a shack several miles from the intersection and arrested him for questioning concerning money shortages in his accounts as a clerk in the Cleveland Water Department.

Man Hurt in Crash With Bothwell's Car Dies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FULTON, Mo., July 29.—Henry Fuller, 81 years old, East Dearborn, Mich., died at the Callaway Hospital here yesterday of shock suffered in an automobile collision on Highway 40, near Kingdom City, Mo., a week ago.

Collector of Customs Fountain Rothwell of St. Louis, his brother, Hamp Rothwell, attorney of Ladue Village, Mrs. Hamp Rothwell, and a fourth occupant of the Rothwell automobile suffered minor injuries in the crash, but continued to St. Louis for treatment. Fuller's wife, and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rennecker, were also injured, but were able to leave the hospital yesterday.

The collision occurred when the car in which Fuller was riding, driven by his daughter, turned back on the road after skidding off the wet pavement. The other car was driven by Hamp Rothwell.

Grants Injunction Against Chicago Art Collector After M. P. V. Kolb Files Action.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Superior Judge Charles A. Williams today issued an injunction tying up the assets of Washington Porter II, art collector, pending disposition of a suit filed Saturday by Mrs. Dorothy Farwell Kolb, formerly of St. Louis.

Ms. Kolb, wife of P. Valentine Kolb, chemist, sued Porter to recover a $2000 ring and $8300 in cash which she alleged she lent him.

The petition for a judgment said judgments totaling $390,000 were entered against Porter and his property since the recent death of his mother.

WHEELER SAYS HE WILL AID
BORAH'S CAMPAIGN IF NEEDED

Democrat Comments on Reports Administration Will Try to Defeat Idaho Senator.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Administration plans to concentrate a big part of the campaign next year in efforts to defeat the dean of the Senate—William E. Borah—will be actively opposed by Senator Wheeler (Dem.), Montana, if the Idaho Republican independent needs such aid.

"I will go into Idaho and campaign for Senator Borah if he wants me to," Wheeler said today in commenting on revived reports that Borah would be opposed for re-election by C. Ben Ross, Idaho's Democratic Governor.

"Regardless of politics," said Wheeler, who bolted the Democratic party in 1924 to run for Vice-President on the ticket with the late Senator Robert M. LaFollette, "I think Senator Borah has made an enviable record for himself in the United States Senate, one of the people of the entire United States are justly proud. Senator Borah deserves re-election."

Borah has gone along with many new deal measures but has heatedly opposed others, including NRA. He has served in the Senate continuously since March 4, 1907, longer than any other member in either party.

ROOSEVELT'S FISHING CATCH
President and Guests on Yacht Hook 90 Hardheads.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Good luck on his Saturday fishing expedition in Lower Chesapeake Bay was reported today by President Roosevelt. He and his guests hauled in 90 hardheads averaging two to three pounds.

The President fished off the deck of the Government yacht Sequoia, using a light rod. Those with him included Comptroller-General McCarl, a frequent critic of New Deal policies, and Henry Roosevelt, Assistant Secretary of the Navy.

PEORIA MURDER DEFENDANT TO OFFER INSANITY PLEA

Lawyer Says Father, Brother of Man Charged With Killing Girl Were Abnormal.

By the Associated Press.

PEORIA, Ill., July 29.—Gerald Thompson, 26 years old, charged with the killing of Mildred Hallmark, 19-year-old cafeteria hostess, will be defended on an insanity plea, Ben Thurman, his court-appointed counsel, told the jury today as the State concluded its case.

"The insanity which has run in his family," Thurman told the jury in Judge Joseph Dally's court, "is a legal defense against the charges brought by the State. His father, brother and the defendant himself all suffered from abnormal sexual passions."

"His mother, Mrs. Florence Whiteside," the attorney said, "will give you all the details. I hope." Mrs. Whiteside is a patient in a hospital here following a nervous breakdown.

The State had rested unexpectedly, presenting only a few witnesses to confirm parts of Thompson's confession that he killed the girl when she resisted his advances in his parked automobile in Springfield Cemetery on the night of June 16. Her body was found in a ditch the following morning. Court was adjourned to tomorrow morning.

Three Months' Cleaning Job. LONDON, July 29.—The biggest window cleaning job in London began when five men started their annual task of washing the glass roof of Waterloo Railway Station. It takes three months to clean the 22,400 squares of glass, an area of about 13 acres.

SURRENDERS AFTER 8 MONTHS IN INSURANCE COMPANY CASE

Gustaf Lindquist, Former State Official of Minnesota, Had Been Sought on Illinois Charge.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 29.—Gustaf Lindquist, former Insurance Commissioner for the State of Minnesota, surrendered today to answer to an indictment charging him with conspiring to loot the Abraham Lincoln Life Insurance Co. of Springfield, Ill.

Lindquist was surrendered to Acting Chief Justice Cornelius J. Harrington by his attorney, Greenville Beardsley. The latter announced his client had returned from St. Paul early today.

The police had been seeking Lindquist since last November for his alleged part in the plot against the insurance company.

Judge Harrington set bond at $2500, which was immediately posted, and the case was assigned for hearing Sept. 16 before Judge Donald S. McKinlay.

DEATH FOR GIVING POISONED CHEESE TO RUSSIAN FARMERS

Former Member of Czar's Bodyguard Sentenced to Die; 55 Were Made Ill.

By the Associated Press.
ROSTOV-ON-DON, U. S. S. R., July 29.—N. Ivonoff, former member of the Czar's bodyguard, was sentenced to death yesterday for distributing poisoned cheese among the workers at the Alexandrofsky collective farm near here.

Fifty-five men and women were rushed to a Rostov hospital after breakfasting on cheese early this month. Many hovered between life and death for days. Ivonoff was manager of the collective farm's commissary which distributed the cheese although it came from a dairy operating without a Government permit.

I. Varonye, business manager of the farm who permitted Ivonoff to remain on the job although allegedly aware the latter belonged to the Czar's bodyguard of 1916, was sentenced to seven years in prison. A 10-year sentence was imposed on E. Chelenko, operator of the illegal dairy. His wife, who although unskilled, was allowed to help in the manufacture of cheese, was ordered imprisoned for three years. The cheese was made of goat's milk.

Funeral for Mrs. Rosa Brod.

The funeral of Mrs. Rosa Brod, who died last night apparently of heart disease, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow from the Edith Ambuster chapel, 4053 Lindell boulevard. Mrs. Brod, who was 78 years old, was the widow of John H. Brod, building contractor, and the mother of John H. Brod Jr., former Director of Public Safety of St. Louis. She is also survived by a daughter, Miss Frances Brod.

Tourists From U. S. Spent $314,000,000 Abroad in 1934

More Than in Previous Year—Canada Received More Than Third; France $50,000,000; Mexico $41,064,000.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Expenditures by tourists from the United States in 1934 are estimated by the Commerce Department at $314,000,000, compared with $292,000,000 in 1933. Estimated expenditures in the United States by foreign visitors increased $11,000,000 over 1933.

While there was a $10,000,000 drop in the outlay overseas, tourists spent $19,000,000 more in Canada, and $13,000,000 more in Mexico than in the previous year. This nation's tourists spent $120,000,000 in Canada last year, or 38 per cent of the total United States tourist expenditures. Canadian tourists spent $47,000,000 here, a 34 per cent increase over 1933. An increase of 22 per cent in the number of Canadian motor cars entering the United States, and a 23 per cent increase in the number of aliens admitted "for business, pleasure and transit," was noted.

Tourists spent $50,000,000 in France, a $10,000,000 decrease, while Mexico received the third largest expenditure—$41,064,000.

Immigrant remittances to relatives abroad were shown to have dropped from $110,000,000 in 1933 to an estimated $105,000,000 in 1934, with a "marked decline" in the average single amount remitted.

Italy led the list with an estimated $16,500,000 sent there, but the report says that while no figures were available for China in 1934, estimates in recent years have ranged from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000.

Foreign contributions by United States charitable, religious, educational and scientific institutions were estimated at $24,000,000, compared with $25,000,000 in 1933, with a 40 per cent decline in reported contributions from Protestant institutions and an increase from $575,000 to $2,796,000 in reported Jewish contributions.

First-class steamship passengers increased from 16,365 to 31,712, while cabin class tourists dropped from 38,386 to 27,183, and second-class from 12,440 to 7508.

The figures for American expenditures included $10,000,000 for 429,000 citizens residing permanently abroad and deriving income from this nation. Of that number, however, 247,000 living in Canada were said to derive their principal source of income from farming in the Dominion.

LAWS INCREASING POWERS OF SENATOR LONG OPERATIVE

New Legislation Gives Him Control of All Local, Parish and State Employees.
By the Associated Press.
BATON ROUGE, La., July 29.—Senator Huey P. Long's power in Louisiana is greater than ever. Twenty-five laws he directed through a special session of the Legislature early this month went into effect yesterday.

The laws give him hiring and firing privileges over all local, parish and State employees through a controlled Civil Service Commission. The laws also take from Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans, Long's enemy, all patronage and strip him of tax-gathering authority. Since the passage of the law Walmsley's own faction deserted him to join Long.

Another statute, taking from the District Attorney of New Orleans power to name his assistants and clerical help, resulted in the resignation of District Attorney Eugene Stanley, another of Long's political enemies.

Several other laws provide for a 30 to 90 day jail sentence and a $100 to $200 fine for use of Federal relief funds for political purposes. Long has repeatedly charged the Federal Government was pouring money into Louisiana in an attempt to beat him.

EX-CONVICT GETS 60 DAYS FOR ATTEMPTED LARCENY

Frank Adams Arrested July 10 in Ambassador Building; Says He Once Was Physician.
Frank Adams, arrested in the Ambassador Building July 10 after a watchman had seen him in an insurance company office with his hands in a desk drawer, pleaded guilty today of attempted petty larceny, and was sentenced to 60 days in the workhouse by Judge Griffin of the Court of Criminal Correction. Adams told the Court he had gone into the building looking for a physician, had become weary and sat down in the insurance company's office.

He said he was a drug addict, had served terms in three penitentiaries for burglary and robbery, and until 1912 had been a practicing physician. He is 56 years old.

TWO HELD IN EXTORTION PLOT AGAINST PREMIER HEPBURN

Pair Accused of Trying to Get Money By Threats from Official in Ontario.
By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Ont., July 29.—Henry M. Walker, 54-year-old St. Thomas (Ont.) metal worker, was charged today with "demanding money with menaces to steal the same," from Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn of Ontario. Arthur Lekey, 60 of St. Thomas, is jointly accused with Walker.

Crown Attorney Norman F. Newton announced the crown would be ready to proceed against both men a week from tomorrow. Six charges were laid against Walker, in two of which he was accused of attempting to get money from Premier Hepburn by threat.

JAPANESE NOTE TO RUSSIANS Demands Guarantees Against Recurrence of Firing.

HARBIN, Manchoukuo, July 29.—The Japanese Consul handed a note to the Soviet Consul today concerning the alleged Soviet firing on a Japanese motorboat seeking alluvial gold in the Amur River. The Japanese note demanded Soviet guarantees against any recurrence of such incidents.

TINKHAM APPEALS
FOR NEUTRALITY LAWSMassachusetts Congressman Says Britain Dominates
Policy of U. S.By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 29.—A charge that American foreign policy is dominated by the British Foreign Office was coupled today by Representative Tinkham (Rep.), Massachusetts, with a demand for neutrality legislation.

"Both the President and the Department of State, dominated and controlled by the British Foreign Office," he said in a statement, "are opposed to legislation providing for strict neutrality of the United States in the next war, a war which is already beginning to loom on the European horizon."

Tinkham said the House Foreign Affairs Committee recently approved a bill providing for the assembling of statistical information on the arms traffic.

But he contended the President, through the State Department, opposed an amendment to bar arms exports to any country engaged in a war to which the United States was not a party. The amendment, he said, would have meant "strict neutrality" for this country.

"The British Foreign Office," Tinkham said, "is opposed to such legislation by the United States."

"Such legislation would prevent Great Britain from using the United States as an arsenal for her war supplies in the next war, as was the case in 1914-1918, and also would tend to prevent Great Britain from again involving the United States in war for her purposes."

Promising introduction of such arms effort legislation tomorrow, Tinkham said it should be enacted "if the interests of the United States are to be given first consideration instead of the desires of the British Foreign Office."

Tinkham said British Foreign Office control of the President and State Department was shown among other things by Mr. Roosevelt's declarations about the Italo-Ethiopian controversy, following a call of the British Ambassador at the State Department, which "synchronized with declarations of British policies in the House of Commons."

FORMER PREMIER TO TRY TO FORM DUTCH CABINET

Political Observers Believe Socialist Will Be Named If He Fails.

By the Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, The Netherlands, July 29.—Former Premier Hendryk Colijn accepted a commission from Queen Wilhelmina today to form a new Government to replace the Cabinet, which resigned last week in a political and financial crisis.

The Queen received Colijn, an ardent advocate of maintaining the gold standard, and directed him to form his new Cabinet on a broad political basis.

His choice for the premiership followed a week-end of conferences in the effort to reshape the Government for its fight against devaluation of the guilder. If Colijn should fail to form a ministry, as did the Catholic party leader, D. P. Aalberse, political circles believed the only alternative would be the appointment of a Socialist Premier.

The Socialists, who, with the Catholics, overthrew Colijn, have demanded devaluation of the guilder and heavy taxes on wealth.

Authorities estimated that more than one-fifth of the $500,000,000 gold stock of the nation has been drained during the crisis.

MEMPHIS PACKER TO TAKE APPEAL FROM AAA RULING

Attorney for Jacob G. Lacroix Announces Exception to Decision of Federal Judge.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 29.—An appeal from the decision of the United States District Court that the Agriculture Adjustment Act, with its processing levies, is constitutional, will be taken to the Supreme Court, it was announced today.

Hugh Mageveney, attorney for Jacob G. Lacroix, Memphis packer, who sought to recover $6863 in processing taxes, on the ground that the act is unconstitutional, announced plans for the appeal.

Federal Judge John D. Martin of the Western District of Tennessee, in dismissing the action late Saturday, said in his opinion:

"Certain District Judges have pronounced the act unconstitutional and the United States Court of Appeals of the First Circuit has so held. But this Court, with lack of binding authority, feels free, despite the decision of the respected Judges and the respected Court of Appeals, to pronounce independent views."

SHIPBUILDER SAYS RADICALS ARE BACK OF JERSEY STRIKE

Tells House Committee Reds Are Trying to Defeat National Defense Program.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—John F. Mellen, president of the New York Shipbuilding Co., told a House Labor subcommittee today that the striking union at his company's Camden, N. J., plant was "dominated by a small radical element anxious to defeat the purposes of our national defense program."

"There is sufficient evidence," he said, "to warrant the assertion that the strike has been fomented for the purpose of advancing communism, and that it is being prolonged by many of the insidious tricks of the communist doctrine."

About $50,000,000 worth of naval construction has been "up" at the plant since May 13, while a strike for higher wages has been in progress. The company is building three cruisers and four destroyers.

Secretary Roper Cites Record Figure Since 1930 in Reporting on American Creditor Position.

$453,000,000 ON CAPITAL ABROAD

He Points Out This Is More Than Triple Amount Sent From This Country as Interest.

WASHINGTON, July 28. — New figures to show that the United States owes less money to foreigners than it is owed were offered today by Secretary Roper.

In contrast to the views of George N. Peek of the Export-Import Bank, who recently questioned the nation's creditor position, the Commerce Secretary said in a foreword to his department's report on the balance of international payments in 1934:

"Despite substantial repatriations of foreign dollar bonds in recent years and numerous defaults, the long-term international creditor position of the United States is emphatically demonstrated by the fact that our annual receipts on investment account were approximately three and one-half times the estimated interest and dividend payments by this country to residents of foreign countries on their investments in the United States."

Transactions "Abnormal." On May 5, Peek reported to President Roosevelt that the nation's creditor position appeared to depend on the true value of defaulted war debts and out-of-date estimates of direct capital investments in foreign countries. The department's report foretold a "wide-scale survey."

Roper conceded that the "abnormal character" of many international transactions in 1934, due to dollar devaluation and political unsettlement in several European gold bloc countries, made it exceedingly difficult to identify or appraise the various movements involved.

He said, however, that American funds which were expatriated in 1933 returned after the dollar was revalued and that European unsettledness periodically influenced the expatriation of foreign capital to the United States.

Roper said he viewed these movements as "due to special influences which will tend to correct themselves and not as indicators of a permanent trend. His gauge, interest and dividends, showed that the country received $453,000,000 from abroad while paying out $126,000,000.

The Commerce Secretary stressed that while it was impossible to measure accurately the effect of the devaluation of the dollar upon our foreign trade, it is significant that the merchandise export balance of $478,000,000 was the largest since 1930.

"In actual value, the year's exports of $2,133,000,000 exceeded those of $2,027,000,000, while on a quantity basis they were 8 per cent larger. Total imports valued at $1,655,000,000 were approximately the same on a quantity basis, but were 14 per cent higher in value."

But Roper added that the net cash claims resulting from the export-import balance was substantially offset by $340,000,000, which accrued to foreign credit in tourist expenditures, shipping, insurance, governmental transactions and immigrant and other remittances.

The nation imported a net total of $1,351,000,000 in gold, silver and foreign currency in the year, which Roper held was in part influenced by the merchandise export balance, which was more than twice as large as in 1933.

After four consecutive years of heavy withdrawals of short-term banking funds, Roper reported a net inflow of $192,000,000 in 1934, while he said available data indicates that on long-term capital transactions, the United States received $1,160,000,000 and made payments of $933,000,000.

The department's report said the year's net inflow of $192,000,000 short-term banking funds represented a "sharp reversal" of an outflow which had persisted since 1929 and assumed "substantial proportions" from 1930 to 1933.

"The balances and other short-term banking assets carried in the United States by foreigners," the report explained, "had steadily declined from approximately $3,000,000,000 at the end of 1927 to $487,000,000 at the end of 1933."

At the end of 1934, our short-term banking assets abroad exceeded liabilities on like account by approximately $400,000,000, the report continued, attributing the reversal in large part to stabilization of the dollar on a new gold basis.

West Indian Predicts Race War. By the Associated Press. PART TWO

AMERICANS LOSE AFTER HAVING A 2 TO 1 LEAD

By the Associated Press. WIMBLEDON, England, July 29. —England won the coveted Davis cup—emblematic of the world's tennis supremacy—for the third straight time today when the new doubles combination of George Patrick Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey defeated the American pair of Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3, in the challenge round doubles match. The victory gave England the necessary third win in the five match series. The Britons' victory was the final crushing blow to America's hopes of recapturing the cup lost to France in 1927. The first blow was delivered Saturday when H. W. (Bunny) Austin pulled out a five-set victory over Allison in a singles match in which the veteran Texan was favored.

Lose in Singles. England then went two up as the celebrated Fred J. Perry conquered the young and formidable Don Budge of Oakland, Cal., in four sets, which saw the Pacific Coast star force the world's amateur champion to play his best game at times. The veteran team of Allison and Van Ryn, winners of the All-England doubles title in the past, was only favored to take Hughes and Tuckey mainly because the Britons had never played together before in cup competition.

Instead, they found out quickly they were up against a formidable pair. Tuckey, the newcomer to international warfare, displayed a booming serve that proved a fine complement to his partner's fast forecourt game. The first six games of the fourth set followed service and then the Britons ran through the next three games with the loss of only three points to win the set. Almost every one of the Britons' shots in the fifth set was loaded with dynamite—the too-hot-to-handle kind—and the Americans had considerable difficulty in getting their rackets on them much less making returns.

Two singles matches remain to complete the series. They will be played tomorrow with Budge opposing Austin and Perry going against Allison. As the result of England's victory today, however, these matches are reduced to an exhibition status for the only effect they'll have on the series will be determining the size of England's winning margin.

British Team New. The Britons, who played together for the first time only a few months ago, outplayed their veteran rivals roundly in the last two sets. Allison tired badly and looked almost out on his feet in the concluding games.

Tuckey covered himself with glory, serving magnificently all the way and playing a spectacular game at the net. The only way the Americans could victimize him was with smashes at his feet as they caught him on the service line.

The veteran Hughes played the best game of his career, particularly in the last two sets in which he served three love games and volleyed brilliantly. Except in rare instances the Americans never seemed to be organized. They were continually caught out of position and many times tried to play the ball together. Their lob for crucial points usually failed.

AMERICANS LOSE AFTER HAVING A 2 TO 1 LEAD

By the Associated Press.

Gray's COLUMN

It's All in the Game.

CAPTAIN JOE WEAR of the Davis Cup team (a St. Louis product, by the way) is probably feeling blue today because the U. S. Davis Cup team muffed its chance to bring back the bowl to America.

But Wear can't be blamed, even though he kept Sidney Wood on the sidelines in the series with Great Britain. Wood was no sure-shot to beat either of the Britons unless Austin or Perry had an off day. Allison is a good fighter and probably did as well or better than Wood could have done.

These two Britons are tough and when a American's 31-year-old Allison and our 19-year-old Budge having a chance with the No. 1 and No. 2 ranking players of the world, they were just kidding themselves.

This writer never gave America better than an outside hope, based on the chance that one of the Britons might not be on edge. And if Perry and Austin remain in the lists next year, our chance will be little better for 1936 than for this campaign. Perry may retire—or turn professional. That would be our chance.

Watch Germany.

UT even with England out, there's Germany to be considered in 1936. Von Cramm is one of the greatest players in the world and his teammate, young Heiner Henkel, indicated that he may become a dangerous foe for all opponents in another season.

Unless some American is found to take the place of Allison or Wood, Budge and the doubles team will have to bear the burden of beating Germany next year—and that appears a heavy load.

America has produced a lot of tennis players since Bill Tilden began to slip; but thus far Ellie Vines is the only one to make the No. 1 grade. We have had Lott, Wood, Allison, Shields, Doeg, Sutter, Grant, Parker, Mako, Budge and others come along. Budge looks like a good one—but all the others developed flaws and fell short of the standard set for this country by Bill Tilden and Little Bill Johnston.

It remains to be seen whether Budge will suffer the usual collapse of our promising young material.

You Have to Be Game.

The work of killing the golden goose in St. Louis is going forward rapidly, thanks to our State law and our State Athletic Commission. Between the shortcomings of both, promoters will be taking it on the chin—if any promoters remain after 1935.

The laws relating to taxation of boxing and wrestling in this State are drastic enough to fill the observation ward with promoters. For example, The promoter must give up from 20 to 25 per cent of his receipts as follows:

Five per cent to the State.

Five per cent to the City.

Ten per cent to the Government.

From 1 to 5 per cent to the

Browns Send Bejma and Bell To San Antonio

Ollie Bejma, infielder, and Beau Bell, outfielder, have been released by the Browns to San Antonio of the Texas League subject to 24-hour recall, it was announced by the Browns' office this morning.

Bejma filled in at second base after Oscar Melillo was traded, then faltered, finally being injured and forced to go to the bench. The Browns secured Tom Carey from Rochester and apparently he has done so well that Manager Rogers Hornsby thought it safe to drop Bejma.

Bell started the season in right field for the Browns but when his hitting fell, he was benched in favor of Ed Coleman.

Departure of Bejma and Bell leaves 19 men on the Browns' roster. For infield reserves there are Manager Rogers Hornsby and Johnny Burnett. Ray Pepper is the extra outfielder and Tommy Heath the second catcher. There are seven pitchers with the club.

Manager Hornsby will go along with the 19 men for the present, there being no deals in the fire, according to the announcement, but the club will overlook no opportunity to add strength through the addition of new faces.

WHITE SOX 6, BROWNS 1 (6 1/2 INNINGS)

COFFMAN AGAIN KNOCKED OUT OF BOX; CAIN IS SECOND PITCHER

By James M. Gould.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, July 29.—Dick Coffman pitched for the Browns this afternoon in the fourth and final game of the series with the White Sox. Les Tietje, like Coffman, a right-hander, was Manager Dyke's hurling selection.

Following the game, the Browns depart for Detroit, where, beginning tomorrow, they meet the league-leading Tigers in a three-game set. This will be followed by a series in Chicago, and an exhibition game at Greenbay, Wis., before Hornsby's team returns home.

Umpire Ormsby, who suffered heat prostration yesterday, was unable to work and Umpire-in-Chief Geisel was assisted by Coach Grover Hartley of the Browns at first and Conlan of Chicago at third.

The attendance was very small—almost negligible in fact. There may have been 400 present.

FIRST INNING—WHITE SOX.—Radcliff flied to Solters. Piet was hit by a pitched ball. Haas rolled to Carey. Bonura walked. Washington doubled to center, scoring Piet and putting Bonura on third. Appling was purposely passed, filling the bases. Hopkins flied to Hemaley.

BROWNS.—Lary popped to Piet. Burns fouled to Bonura. Hopkins threw out Solters.

SECOND—WHITE SOX.—Sewell lined to Clift. Tietje struck out. Radcliff singled to center. Piet forced Radcliff, Lary and Carey.

BROWNS.—Tietje threw Coleman. West flied to Washington. Hemaley grounded to Appling.

THIRD—WHITE SOX.—Hess lined to West. Bonura flied to Hemaley. Washington also fouled to Hemaley.

BROWNS.—Clift grounded to Hopkins. Carey flied to Washington. Appling threw out Coffman.

FOURTH—WHITE SOX.—Appling singled to right. Hopkins singled to center, sending Appling to third. Sewell singled too hot for Lary. Appling scoring. Hopkins stopped at second. Tietje bunted but forced Hopkins at third. Coffman to Clift. Radcliff forced Tietje. Carey to Lary. Sewell going to third. Piet singled to center, scoring Sewell and putting Radcliff on third. Haas doubled to left, scoring Radcliff and Piet.

Coffman was taken out and Cain went into pitch for the Browns. Bonura singled off Cain's glove. Haas going to third. Washington forced Bonura. Carey to Lary.

FOUR RUNS.

BROWNS.—Lary flied to Washington. Burns walked. Solters grounded to Piet. Coleman singled to left for the first hit off Tietje. Burns scoring. West flied to Haas.

ONE RUN.

FIFTH—WHITE SOX.—Appling flied to West. Hopkins popped to Hemaley. Sewell grounded to Lary.

BROWNS.—Hemaley flied to Haas. Clift doubled to left. Carey flied to Washington. Clift taking third. Cain grounded to Appling.

SIXTH—WHITE SOX.—Tietje flied to West. Radcliff flied to Solters. Carey threw out Piet.

BROWNS.—Lary popped to Piet. Burns grounded to Appling. Solters was out the same way.

LOIS KEENE ENTERS FOREST PARK FINAL

Lois Keene reached the final round of the Forest Park Tennis Club tournament by defeating Rosalind Werner, 6-2, 6-2, yesterday afternoon. Miss Keene will meet Mercene Weiss in the final.

Wayne Smith and Ward Parker joined the third round of the men's doubles by defeating the team of Singer and Gittleman, 6-2, 6-0.

Smith and Parker recently won the St. Louis Municipal men's doubles championship, thus qualifying for the National Public Parks tournament at New Orleans next month.

BROWNS SPLIT WITH WHITE SOX IN TWIN BILL

They are still the acrobatic Browns—the team that can do more bad things worse and more good things better than any other club in either major league. And, they certainly somersaulted some before 6000 fans yesterday when they gave a miserable exhibition. Hameable principally on the pitching, in losing the first game of a Sunday doubleheader, 14 to 6, and then vaulted back to a thrilling ninth-inning 4-3 victory in the nightcap.

The two teams met in the first game of the series yesterday afternoon, at the Public Schools Stadium, and the Aubuchon-Dennison aggregation was an easy victory, 24 to 1, before about 1000 spectators.

Aubuchon wasted little time yesterday in making sure of the victory, rolling up 12 runs in the first inning. Even without that lead, they would have had little trouble, for Norval Hunthausen was in good form and held Hannibal's batsmen to three hits, all "flukes," and struck out 14. The lone run scored off him came in the ninth inning as a result of two errors and a pop double.

An unusual triple play was made in the seventh inning by the Aubuchons as the result of weird base running by the Hannibal squad. With Hedges on third and Thompson on second, McQuerry hit to Hunthausen, who tossed to third.

AUBUCHON WINS EASTERN ZONE BASEBALL TITLE

By Reno Hahn

The Aubuchon-Dennison Post team of St. Louis won the Eastern Missouri zone American Legion junior baseball championship this afternoon, when it won its second straight victory over Emmett J. Shields Post of Hannibal, Mo., again by a one-sided score, 20-0. The game played, at Sherman Park, went only seven innings and Aubuchon's victory made it unnecessary to play the third game of the series.

Aubuchon-Dennison now will play for the State title, next Saturday, Sunday or Monday, in St. Louis. The opposing team will be determined in games between Trenton and St. Joseph nines, and a later elimination between that winner and Kansas City.

In the second game against Hannibal, Aubuchon used 14 players, and all but three made one or more runs and all but two one or more safe hits. Woodruff, shortstop, led in the slugging with four out of five. Pitcher Jim Byrne held Hannibal to one hit and himself knocked a home run. Other home runs were made by Mudd, Egan and O'Connell. Pete De Long umpired.

ENGLAND RETAINS DAVIS CUP BY VICTORY IN DISCOVERY

AMERICANS LOSE FIVE SET MATCH; SCORES ARE 6-2, 1-6, 6-8, 6-3, 6-3

ly went many feet out of bounds as did their drives from back court. The break that might have decided the match came in the fourth set with the Britons leading 4-2. Van Ryn serving, slammed a fine ace past Tuckey for what would have deuced the game but a foot-fault gave the Britons a 5-3 lead. This decision obviously rattled the Americans as officials had called only about one foot-fault before that set point. Thereafter all they seemed able to do was try to slam the ball through the Britons who stood at the net and revelled in it, especially Tuckey.

Cheer! Cheer!

The crowd went hog wild after Allison's final abortive serve in the last game of the fifth set. Many of them tossed cushions into the air and yelled like Indians.

Allison and Van Ryn paused long enough only to shake hands with their victors and then walked off the court slowly and dejectedly, followed by the equally downcast non-playing Captain Joseph Wear of Philadelphia.

Tuckey, who had played at Cambridge University and has won the British army championship the last three years, was pounded on the back by fans who jumped over low barriers.

A glum atmosphere permeated the Americans' dressing room, but it didn't last long. Allison and Van Ryn jokingly started to "ride" each other in an effort to revive their spirits. Wear was the gloomiest of all and would not be cheered. With a voice filled with emotion, he said:

"We played our best men and did our best. We could have used some breaks, but England had the better team. Congratulations to them."

Allison, who plays an equally good game of golf, said:

"Well, I think I'll have to go back to golf. We had all our luck in the doubles against the Germans."

Ferry entered the Americans' quarters and joined in with some friendly banter. He was followed by Hughes, who couldn't conceal his joy.

"We tried bloody hard for it," he said smilingly. "You Americans played a beautiful game and we are sorry you lost but glad you were in the first time since they lost to Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon in 1930 that the United States has lost a doubles match in Davis cup challenge-roun play."

Appearance today was their fourth in a team in a challenge-round match. They beat the French in 1929 and again in 1932.

There were only about 3000 spectators in the stands when play began with the royal box virtually unoccupied. Allison served first and quickly won a love game as the Britons knocked three out and netted once. Tuckey came back and served two aces to win the twice deuced second game and then the Britons broke Van Ryn in another deuced game as the Americans netted the last three points in a furious exchange of volleys.

Allison and Van Ryn cracked down in earnest to break Hughes' easy aliced delivery in the fourth game by knocking everything at the nervous Tuckey. The Britons then broke Allison to take a 3-2 lead as Tuckey smashed two placements between the Americans.

England Wins First Set.

Tuckey served powerfully to win the four-times deuced sixth game. Van Ryn showed inability to handle his rivals' blasts. The Britons broke the luckless Van Ryn again in the seventh game as the Philadelphia continued to net every thing. England went out behind the final point for a placement to take the first set, 6-2.

Allison and Van Ryn won the second set, 6-1, squaring the match.

The Americans jumped to a 3-0 lead in the third set. They broke Tuckey with a withering net game and each held his own serve with little difficulty.

With Van Ryn getting a perfect range on his ground strokes, giving Allison beautiful help, the Americans then broke Hughes, scoring three volley placements in succession. Allison increased his lead to 5-0, winning his service with the loss of only one point as the Britons netted two of his blistering serves.

Tuckey's cannonball delivery finally gave England a 6-1 victory in the fourth—which was deuced and lost by the Americans when Van Ryn and Allison, respectively, netted and outed the last two points.

The Americans, however, went out with a point as Allison's thrust for a placement barely missed the line.

Van Ryn won the fourth game on service after a tough struggle, but Hughes also held to send England ahead, 4-1. The pace slowed up slightly and the next three games went on service with the Britons leading 5-3.

Van Ryn was guilty of considerable carelessness in the first set, but the 29-year-old Philadelphia flashed his old form in the second set and served the steady and durable Allison magnificently in the second set.

The Americans suffered a tem-

3 MORE MUNY GROUP BASEBALL RACES DECIDED

by Dizzy Dear

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 29.

PEOPLE have asked me a lot of questions and it's my turn to ask one. I'd like to know why it is that a club gets a jinx on another club, like the Pittsburgh Pirates have on the Cardinals? We can be traveling ever so good and the Pirates can be going terrible and all we have to do is to drop in at Forbes Field and the Pittsburgh club takes us like George Washington took Richmond.

It's been that way so long that it can't be that the hitters have it on our pitchers, because the Pirates haven't got many of the same players that they had years ago, and this thing has been going on for a long time. There are many such jinxes in the big leagues. For instance, the Phillies always have been able to stop the Pirates whenever Pittsburgh feels that it has a chance in the pennant race. If it wasn't for Pittsburgh's jinx over us we'd be leading the league by a country mile.

We are lucky to break even in a doubleheader with the Pirates when Traynor's men tries their best before a capacity crowd to boot both games to us. I was lucky enough to win No. 16 and any time we beats the Pirates we figure we're shot full of luck.

The Britons regained the lead, however, as Tuckey made three errors. Allison smashed a kill shot high and tipped the ball to lose the point.

The Americans won the first three points in the fourth game as Allison's delivery and final two points the twice-deuced game broke him to take a 7-6 lead. The final point was the most spectacular of the match. It was a rapid exchange of volleys from a netted ball until Tuckey finally leaped high and tipped the ball to lose the point.

Allison led 40-30 on service in the fourteenth and final game, and then served a double fault, falling flat on his back. He double-faulted again to give his rivals the advantage in the fifth set.

FRANZ, ST. LOUIS MARKSMAN, WINS AT CREVE COEUR

Oscar B. Franz of St. Louis retained his title as champion trap shooter of the eastern zone of Missouri State, yesterday afternoon at Creve Coeur Gun Club. The marksman finished up the two days of heavy shooting with a remarkably good record of 386 targets out of a possible 400. It marked the second consecutive year that he gained the top honors in the eastern zone title drive.

Franz's mark also bettered the 374 targets out of 400 by Hugh Maitland in the professional division. Spencer Olin, professional, ineligible for amateur division, shone in individual competition by smashing 50 targets out of 50 in the 25-pair division Saturday and 100 targets in the 100 straight targets at 16 yards yesterday afternoon.

Elliott is Second.

Russell Elliott of Kansas City was second to Franz with a mark of 382 targets for the two days.

Don Zimmer, manager of the Creve Coeur Club, was third, with 378 targets.

In the handicap event at distances varying from 16 to 25 yards Franz led the field of 22 with 97 targets out of 100. Seven shooters tied for second with 92, including Dan Zimmer, C. W. Hill, Russell Elliott, Hugh Maitland (pro), Ed Best, W. Kinser and Dr. M. E. Hagerty.

The 100 straight targets at 16 yards found Franz pacing the pack with 99 targets. Zimmer was second with 98, followed closely by F. F. Wilmas and Russell Elliott, with 97 apiece. As a result of this shooting Franz won the Class A trophy, while O. E. Greelan won the Class B title with 95 targets.

Honors in Class went to C. W. Spauldine, having 96 targets.

Dr. D. L. Penney, who has been shooting consistently, stated that St. Louis would be well represented in the party of more than 50 shooters who will go to the Grand American trapshooting competition which will start on Monday, Aug. 19, and conclude the following Friday at Vandalia, O., the annual gathering place for the national competition.

Among those who have signified their intentions of attending the Grand American are Art Kilham, professional; Dr. M. E. Harmon, Dr. M. E. Hagerty, Ed Best and Oscar Franz, plus Dr. Penney. More than 700 of the best trapshooters in the country are expected to attend the five-day event.

100 straight: Oscar Franz, 99; Dan Zimmer, 98; F. F. Wilmas, 97; C. W. Spauldine, 96; O. E. Greelan, 95; Dr. D

By the Associated Press.
LANING, Kan., July 29.—Three men suspected of 90 robberies and murder were held in the State penitentiary today following their capture by Kansas highway patrolmen at a tourist camp near Sabetha, yesterday.

Their names were given as Howard Vernon, 27 years old, of Fair-bury, Neb.; John Meade, 19, and Larry Kruse, 24, both of Sioux City,
Ia.

Meade and Kruse were quoted by
Maj. Wint Smith, head of the patrol, as admitting scores of robberies and implicating Vernon in the killing of an unidentified Michigan motorist. Vernon denied the killing.

Meade was quoted by Smith as saying the motorist was shot several times in the legs, then in the chest and abdomen as he resisted an attempt by the three men to steal his car. "That man's voice has haunted me ever since," Meade told Smith.

The three were identified, Smith said as the men who left W. E.
Grogman, Kansas City grain salesman, bound and gagged near Herkimer, Kan., after his car and $20 were taken from him. Smith accused the prisoners also of stealing the automobile of Marshal Charles E. Mack at Hooper, Neb., last week, forcing Mack to accompany them for some distance before releasing him.
He said the three men robbed a bank Thursday at Sergeant Bluff, Ia.

At Fairbury a few days ago, Smith said, Vernon confronted the Sheriff, who was seeking him for parole violation, and threatened him. This incident led to a flurry over the reported presence in the vicinity of Alvin Karpis, widely sought gangster.

Most of the 90 or more robberies attributed to the three men by Smith were filling stations.
Smith said Meade and Kruse likely will be held in Kansas for trial on charges of highway robbery, for which they may receive sentences up to life on conviction. Smith was not certain whether Vernon will be returned to Michigan for trial on a murder charge. The maximum penalty for a murder conviction in Michigan is life imprisonment.

FARM HAND HELD IN ATTEMPT TO EXTORT $2000 FROM WIDOW

By the Associated Press.
FLINT, Mich., July 29.—An 18-year-old farm youth will appear before a United States commissioner today to tell of an alleged $2000 extortion attempt that failed because a wealthy widow defied a death threat and notified police of the demand.

Police called the Department of Justice into the case, and with the Federal agents laid a mine gun ambush which resulted in the arrest of Curtis J. Tennyson, formerly of Cash, Ark. Tennyson was a farm hand on the estate of Dr. T.
J. Connell, retired physician, who had been a friend of the family of the intended extortion victim, Mrs.
Pearl Durham.

Detective-Sergeant Ray H. Martin of Flint said he obtained a confession from Tennyson.
At the hour appointed in the note,
Mrs. Durham's sedan went to the designated place. A Federal agent, attired in women's clothing, dropped a dummy package in a clump of brush upon which other agents had trained machine guns.

Within a few minutes a youth entered the bushes and sought to find the package. Officers arrested Tennyson.
Sergt. Martin said the youth admitted writing the note to Mrs.
Durham in order to obtain money for an operation.

INQUIRY INTO FAMILY HISTORY OF MISSING CHILD'S PARENTS

They Have Been on Relief in Idaho for Two Years; Brief Note Received.

By the Associated Press.
COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho, July 29.—The family history of the parents of 2-year-old Bobby Rush, missing for eight days, was investigated today along with a mysterious speeding blue sedan.

Deputy Sheriff A. Molstead disclosed the intention of officers to find something more about the past of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rush, of Athol, parents of Bobby, who disappeared while on a picnic. They have been on relief for two years.
Molstead did not say whether officers thought a study of the family past might reveal anything more than a strong basis for a "revenge kidnaping" theory. He intimated, however, a weakening of confidence in the kidnapping motive.

The revenge theory was advanced by Deputy Sheriff H. H. Haner after the Rushes received a six-word message Saturday evening: "Your baby if O. K. Don't worry."
Officers were informed a sedan was seen racing from the vicinity where the child disappeared.

WANTS WORKS RELIEF RESUMED FOR 2 WEEKS

Murray to Take Matter Up
With Crossley — 62,000
Now Out of Jobs.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 28.—
Efforts to resume the work relief program in Missouri for two more weeks, particularly in the urban centers, will be made by Matthew S. Murray, state works progress administrator. When he returned here yesterday, Murray said he would confer with Wallace Crossley, state relief administrator, in regard to a resumption of activities.

An anticipated sharply reduced Federal allotment for August resulted in a week's suspension of the work, beginning Friday morning, and Crossley later said he doubted whether the program could be carried on next month.

"I hope we will be able to work out some arrangement," Murray said, "whereby the work relief projects in the cities can be carried on for about two weeks until the works progress administration can take them over."

Nothing Else to Do in Cities.
"In the cities, the unemployed have nothing else to do while in the rural areas, they will not have so much trouble finding something to do," he said.

Suspension of activities threw approximately 62,000 persons out of work, Murray said.

A delegation from Kansas City was here yesterday, seeking an early transfer of the works relief projects in that city to the works progress administration. "We want to keep people working," Murray told them.

Crossley, it was understood, had expressed the opinion that if the work relief program should be resumed in the urban centers, it should be resumed throughout the State.

Murray's organization will begin its big task of creating employment for some hundred thousand Mis-sourians with a Federal allotment

Reports on Farmer at Variance.
The puzzling problem concerning the status of the farmer in relation to the public works administration was partially cleared up when Murray said the farmer would probably be given employment under the program, but probably not until late this fall or winter.

Reports coming from the state relief administration and its county and district organizations have been contradictory. Some were that the farmer would not be certified for WPA jobs, and others were that they would.

"We want to avoid the situation that arose in South Dakota and other States to the Northwest," Murray said.

In those States, farmers and others on relief refused to go out in the harvest fields and do other farm work, preferring to remain in the cities on dole.

Murray added that the farmer would be taken care of in time.

Gov. Tammage Bitten by Snake.
By the Associated Press.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 29.—Gov.
Eugene Tammage was late to work today because a snake bit him. The Governor walked into his office with his right ankle bandaged. "A little brown snake got me down on my farm," he explained, "but it's all right. The doctor fixed it up and I felt no ill effects whatever."

PROFIT ON 5-CENT CAR FARE San Francisco Municipal Railway Earns $122,000 in Year.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 29.—The Municipal Railway had a net profit of $122,245 last fiscal year, utilities manager, E. C. Cahill, reported yesterday.

Wage restorations, totaling $87-000, increased depreciation allowances and an increase in accident reserve cut the profit figure about $43,000 less than for the previous year, but it was $109,000 more than anticipated in the budget, Cahill said. San Francisco is one of few large cities retaining the 5-cent fare.

One Patient in Windber, Pa., District Dies; Others Reported Responding to Treatment.

By the Associated Press.
WINDBER, Pa., July 29.—A malady which has affected 28 persons in this district was diagnosed today by two physicians as a form of encephalitis, or sleeping sickness. The diagnosis was made by Dr. W. S.
Wheeling and Dr. H. A. Slessinger of the Windber Hospital, after the illness had at first been attributed by others to swimming in polluted waters.
One death—that of 13-year-old

Andrew Toth—was laid to the disease after a post mortem. Physicians said the cases were a mild form and the patients responding to treatment. None was reported in lethargic condition. Windber, a mining town near Johnstown, has a population of about 9000.

Light an Old Gold... for young ideas!

STIMULATING BUT NEVER IRRITATING

THERE'S A "PICK-ME-UP" in Old Golds, so smokers tell us.
But it's a "pick-me-up" without a "plop-me-down." The kind of pleasant stimulation that perks up the spirits without jolting the nerves.

Old Gold's special charm is due to the finer character of its tobaccos. Selected for extreme mildness. Aged and mellowed beyond the usual standards... to insure cool, fragrant and slow-burning smoking quality.

Such prime leaf can be relied on to exert a kindly influence on the nerves and spirits.

SMOKERS! GET THIS!

We GUARANTEE that Old Golds contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos grown;
the finest obtainable at any price. Only such fine old tobaccos can give that natural aroma and fragrance of Old Gold cigarettes.

BRITAIN TO BUILD NEW $750,000,000 FLEET, PAPER SAYS

London Herald Publishes What it Asserts Is "Admiralty's Famous 'Hush Hush' Plan."

12 NEW CAPITAL
SHIPS, 33 CRUISERS

21 Submarines and 3 Aircraft Carriers Called for in Secret 7-Year Construction Program.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 29.—The Daily Herald, publishing what it said was "the Admiralty's famous 'hush-hush' plan," declared today that Great Britain intended to build virtually a new battle fleet costing $750,000,000 by 1942.

The Laborite newspaper said the Admiralty had developed a secret seven-year plan, calling for the construction of 12 new capital ships and 33 new cruisers. In addition, it said, there would be 63 new flotilla leader-destroyers, 21 new submarines and three new aircraft carriers.

Reasons for Secrecy.
Sir Bolton Eyres-Monsell, first Lord of the Admiralty, had told the House of Commons that publication of the program would "be against the interests of the public and the peace of the world." The Herald, however, said the plan "already has been communicated to the admirals of the United States, France, Germany, Italy and Japan."

The newspaper said the program called for construction in 1936 of three cruisers, nine flotilla leaderdestroyers and three submarines, with five capital ships, five cruisers, nine destroyers, three submarines and one aircraft carrier to be built in 1938.

"This great program is intensely discreetly to the Government," the newspaper said editorially. "It is decreed because it is a direct sequel to the Government's failure to accept, indeed its success in blocking, opportunities for naval disarmament which in recent years were offered."

Comparative Strength.
Under the reported program, the comparative strength of the British fleet as of 1935 and 1942, allowing for ships which would become outdated under the Washington and London treaty rules, would be inflated.

In 1935, 15 capital ships, 50 cru-
sers, 84 flotilla leader-destroyers, 39 submarines, eight aircraft carriers;
in 1942, 14 capital ships, 72 cru-
sers, 142 flotilla leader-destroyers, 57
submarines and 10 aircraft carriers.

The House of Commons was notified by the First Lord of the Admiralty in a speech July 22 that England definitely was abandoning the principle of naval ratios expressed in the Washington accord of 1922.

Other means to accomplish the same ends of naval limitation are under consideration by the British Government, the official asserted, based primarily upon a system of naval programs providing adequate navies for defense for each nation.

Such a Program Means World Building Race, U. S. Officials Say.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Commenting on reports that Great Britain planned to spend $750,000,000 on a new naval program, navy officials said such a development would mean a world-wide building race.
The Washington and London limitation treaties do not expire until Dec. 31, 1936. The officials said that if construction was begun before that date it would mean the scrapping of the treaties.

Denying that Washington had been informed of the reported program, the officials suggested that possibly it was intended to furnish a trading basis in British attempts to obtain a new naval limitation agreement.

COLUMBIA U. TURNS OUT ENCYCLOPEDIA IN SINGLE VOLUME

Three Inches Thick and Contains 5,000,000 Words—
Eight Years' Work.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Described as a compendium of human knowledge for "every man except the specialist," the first original one-volume American Encyclopedia has been completed, it was announced by Columbia University.

It is but three inches thick, and contains 5,000,000 words, says its Editor-in-Chief, Dr. Clarke F. Ansley, former dean of the School of Fine Arts of the State University of Iowa. Six years of research and two years of writing and editing were required to complete the work.

Julius Caesar has the longest biography, 2800 words. Former President Hoover's life is covered in 1100 words, and Franklin D.
Roosevelt's in 800. Roosevelt is also the central figure in an 850-word article on the NRA, brought down to the end of 1934.

Nikolai Lenin's biography takes up 1050 words, Mussolini's 850, and Hitler's 750.

Among the scientists, Albert Einstein is given 400 words, and Pierre and Marie Curie, 300. George Bernard Shaw tops the literary figures with 400 words, while H. G.
Wells, James M. Barrie and Marcel Proust are in the low 300's. Of the movie stars, Charlie Chaplin gets 180 words, with Ethel Barrymore
30 words behind.

In addition to the 4514 projects now under construction, 13,238, involving expenditure of $685,421,693, have been completed in the two years of PWA, Ickes said. Construction has not been begun on 1426 others which are to cost $321-026,255.

Reporting a "sharp acceleration" in the number of applications for PWA allotments, Ickes said 2130, totaling $501,114,249, have been received at state PWA headquarters.
Of these, 269, totaling $58,262,762, have been approved and forwarded to Washington for approval by the Work Allotment Committee and the President.

The number of PWA applications received in Washington daily, Ickes said, "has shown a marked increase in the past week as the state offices, under the recently decentralized PWA examination procedure, act on the increasing flow of requests of communities desiring various forms of permanent public works improvements and are ready to co-operate with the Federal program by sharing the cost and making a 55 per cent contribution as long as the Government is ready to make an outright grant of 45 per cent."

$485,000,000 for Site Labor.
Ickes said $485,000,000 had been paid by PWA for construction site labor—which averaged 500,000 a month during 1934, but has declined in recent months—while PWA provided other employment by buying $1,000,000,000 worth of materials.

Ickes' announcement followed one by Harry L. Hopkins, Works Progress Administrator, concerning expenditure of work relief funds to provide aid for students and teachers. Hopkins said summer schools will be set up for 1200 needy teachers who will conduct classes for grownups during the coming year.
Hopkins and Aubrey Williams, head of the National Youth Administration, received offers of help from youth leaders.

LEVANEFFSKY HOPES TO FIND
NEW LAND ON POLAR FLIGHT

Proposed Hop. Russia to San Francisco, Discussed by Noble,
Italian Flyer.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, July 29.—Hope of discovery of new land, between the North Pole and the American continent is held by Sigmund Levanef-
sky, who plans an over-the pole
flight to San Francisco, another polar flyer said today.

Writing in the newspaper Pravda,
Gen. Umberto Nobile, Italian aviator who has made several polar flights, said the existence of land
in this region is still an open question. During his flight of 1926, Nobile said, dense fog and clouds cut off from the occupants of his dirigible the view of the sea over the area where land is thought to be.

"We saw no sign of Harris Land, supposed to extend from the shore
of the North American continent to
the North Pole," Nobile wrote. "We saw no islands, either, but our view
of the sea was cut off except for short intervals."

"Who can confirm that land does not exist there, and who knows if
the fog that accompanied us 1300
kilometers (about 808 miles) along
our course did not conceal this land
from us? It constitutes an open question, and I hope that Levanef-sky will have opportunities for discovery that were denied us."

The Italian explorer is now engaged as an expert in the Soviet's program of dirigible construction.

POPE EXPRESSES DESIRE FOR PEACE IN AFRICA

Says Sky Is Darkened by Clouds; Has Confidence Justice Will Prevail.

By the Associated Press.
VATICAN CITY, July 29.—The Pope expressed the hope yesterday that peace would prevail in East Africa. His reference to the Italo-Ethiopian controversy was made during a pronouncement commemorating "the historic virtues" of Justin de Jacobis, Apostolic Vicar of Ethiopia, who died in 1860.

"We recall the memory of this great Italian, of this great Ethiopian by adoption, we might add, at a moment when the sky between Italy and Ethiopia is darkened by clouds, the presence and significance of which, or better to say, mystery—can escape no one," said the Pontiff.

"We shall always hope for the peace of Christ in the Kingdom of Christ, and that whatever may come to pass, we have every confidence that nothing will occur which will not be in accordance with truth, justice and charity."

5220-FOOT BRIDGE FINISHED

Europe's Longest Railway Span Is
at Saratov in Russia.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, July 29.—Europe's longest railway bridge, which spans
the Volga at Saratov, has been completed. The structure, which is 5220 feet long, takes rank among the world's largest, the Brooklyn
and new George Washington
Bridges in New York, being, respectively, 6016 feet with approaches and 4760 feet between anchorages.

Mounting work, which was completed late in March, required the greatest skill of the engineers. With the assistance of commanders and men of the Red Army, they worked under difficult winter conditions
in order to complete the bridge before ice drifts began to flow down
the Volga.

$1,800,000,000 IN PWA PROJECTS UNDER WAY

Carried on With Funds Ap-

000,000, Ickes Says.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Secretary of the Interior Ickes announced today that nearly $1,800,- 000,000 of Public Works Administration projects are under construction and "will furnish employment in the interim before the $4,000,- 000,000 work relief program reaches its peak."

These projects are being carried on with funds appropriated prior to the $4,000,000,000 which the administration hopes will give employment to 2,500,000 persons. The men employed on them will not be counted toward the 3,500,000 goal, officials said.

There are other public works funds in the $4,000,000,000 and Ickes urged states and communi-

cance of which, or better to say,

Europe's Longest Railway Span Is
at Saratov in Russia.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, July 29.—Europe's
longest railway bridge, which spans
the Volga at Saratov, has been completed. The structure, which is 5220 feet long, takes rank among
the world's largest, the Brooklyn
and new George Washington
Bridges in New York, being, respectively, 6016 feet with approaches and 4760 feet between anchor-
ages.

Mounting work, which was completed late in March, required the greatest skill of the engineers. With the assistance of commanders and men of the Red Army, they worked under difficult winter conditions
in order to complete the bridge before ice drifts began to flow down
the Volga.

LEVANEFFSKY HOPES TO FIND
NEW LAND ON POLAR FLIGHT

Proposed Hop. Russia to San Francisco, Discussed by Noble,
Italian Flyer.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, July 29.—Hope of discovery of new land, between the North Pole and the American continent is held by Sigmund Levanef-
sky, who plans an over-the pole
flight to San Francisco, another polar flyer said today.

Writing in the newspaper Pravda,
Gen. Umberto Nobile, Italian aviator who has made several polar
flights, said the existence of land
in this region is still an open question. During his flight of 1926, Nobile said, dense fog and clouds cut off from the occupants of his dirigible the view of the sea over the area where land is thought to be.

"We saw no sign of Harris Land,
supposed to extend from the shore
of the North American continent to
the North Pole," Nobile wrote. "We saw no islands, either, but our view
of the sea was cut off except for
short intervals."

"Who can confirm that land does
not exist there, and who knows if
the fog that accompanied us 1300
kilometers (about 808 miles) along
our course did not conceal this land
from us? It constitutes an open question, and I hope that Levanef-
sky will have opportunities for discovery that were denied us."

CALLES JR. DEFEATED IN MEXICAN ELECTION

Son of Ex-President Loses Race for Governorship of Nuevo Leon.

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO, D. F., July 29.—Plutarco
Elias Calles Jr., son of the former President of Mexico, was defeated yesterday in the election for the governorship of the State of Nuevo Leon.

Gen. Fortunato Zuazua won by a margin estimated at 10 to 1 and observers interpreted this to mean the loss of nominal control of another state for Gen. Calles, who withdrew from politics recently after a dispute with President Lazaro Cardenas.

Federal troops patrolled the streets in towns of Nuevo Leon during the election, which was carried out quietly.

Zuazua is a revolutionary General and an associate of President Cardenas. He declared himself opposed to Gen. Calles and ran independently for the governorship after losing the nomination of the National Revolutionary party to young Calles.

Demonstration in Sonora.
The movement against the former political allies of Gen. Calles spread today into Sonora, his home state. Several thousand persons paraded in Hermosillo, the state capital, in a demonstration against Ramon Ramos, the Governor-elect.

Leaders of the demonstration declared the people would not allow Ramos to take office on the ground that he was constitutionally barred by not being a native of the state and not having resided there for 10 years.

A similar demonstration took place in Tampico against Dr. Rafael Villareal, Governor of the State of Tamaulipas, whose resignation was reported imminent. Representatives of 57 organizations of workers and peasants marched through the streets demanding that Villareal quit.

BUILT for the Department of Commerce in its search for a low-priced, foolproof craft for laymen, this pusher type of plane was tested last week at Los Angeles. It has a top speed of 110 miles an hour, will cruise at 95 and will fly 13 1/2 miles on a gallon of gasoline. Its designer, WALDO WATER-BUILT, is beside it.

Interior, boarded a presidential train for Guadalajara this morning to inform President Cardenas of the result of his investigation into conditions in Tamaulipas.

President Cardenas is returning to the capital tomorrow and is expected to take immediate action in the case of Tamaulipas. He has been out of the capital since the movement against the Governors friendly to Calles started in Tabasco and spread to the other states.

Lastra in National Capital.
Former Gov. Lastra of Tabasco, who was ousted, arrived in the capital today and it was reported that he was planning to leave soon for the United States with Senator Ausencio Cruz and other officials.
Lastra was supported by Tomas Garrido Canabal, who apparently has lost his power as the dictator of Tabasco.

In the territory of Baja California workers and peasants protested against the administrative methods of Gov. Augustino Olachea.

In Chihuahua agrarian leaders announced they intended to press charges of favoritism and misgovernment against Gov. Rodrigo Que-vedo.

Towboat Reduces Time on Trip.
By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 29.—
The towboat Franklin D. Roosevelt completed its quickest trip up the Missouri River from St. Louis yesterday, making the 393 miles in 74 1/2 hours. It was towing two barges and a battalion of tanks.

For greater efficiency, reorganization and redistribution orders were issued for five infantry regiments, seven "fortress" battalions of Alpine "blue devils," two artillery regiments, one engineer regiment and a battalion of tanks.

AGREEMENT NEAR ON DANUBIAN PACT

France, Italy, Austria and Other States Working on Broad Accord.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, July 29.—A Government spokesman confirmed reports last night of an apparently early consensus to negotiations for a Danubian pact among France, Italy, Austria and neighboring states.

The pact is of a more general nature, he said, than that originally conceived when conferences at Stresa decided to hold a Danubian conference at Rome.

When the agreement is signed by Premier Mussolini and representatives of the countries involved, another phase of the negotiations, the spokesman said, will be to decide whether special agreements such as bilateral mutual assistance pacts will be necessary.

In view of the fact that the accord is of a broad general nature, diplomatic circles were hopeful it would be reached without difficulty.

The proposed pact includes four main points on the independence of signatory states: Non-interference of one state in another's internal affairs, consultation among the states, non-aggression embracing non-assistance of an aggressor, and a formal guarantee of the independence of each signatory.

France and Italy initiated the proposed agreement and France already has notified the Little Entente states of Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia and Rumania and received their assent.

Italy has received the assent of Austria, Hungary and Poland, and has notified Germany.

Germany is willing to accept the pact, it was learned from an authoritative source, if the signatories will not form bilateral mutual assistance agreements.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

Defends Gasconade Project.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

DR. JULIAN A. STEYERMARK, after reading a description which appeared in the Post-Dispatch of a proposed hydro-electric project on the Gasconade River, writes to you as follows:

If these proposed dams are approved, it means flooding thousands of square miles. What will result? First, destruction of the natural beauty of the rivers themselves. Second, destruction of native plant and animal life all along these streams.

The doctor apparently thinks that hydro-electric projects will inundate a large part of the State, when, as a matter of fact, the proposed Gasconade project, which is one of the largest, will flood less than 25 square miles of land and, of this, less than half is under cultivation.

Dr. Steyermark further speaks of the destruction of the natural beauty of the rivers themselves. At the site of the proposed development on the Gasconade, the river is flat and uninteresting, not reasonably usable or used by anyone for any purpose whatsoever. But by building the dam, we will make one of the most beautiful lakes in the world, giving opportunity to thousands for use, pleasure and sport. Fish and game will abound.

But this is only one of the benefits to be derived from the Gasconade project. Its main benefit will come from the large supply of cheap power that will be available to the people of St. Louis, and the city itself now has the opportunity to build and own this great power plant. When I say cheap power, I mean incomparably cheap power, as nowhere else in the United States has power been developed for so low a rate as power will be developed on the Gasconade, with the existing conditions of a Federal grant of almost half the cost of the project, no taxes and the rate at which money can now be borrowed—lower than ever before in our history.

Henry George's Solution.

I N any discussion of this depression and its remedies, it is customary to hear the assertions, "This modern machine age has brought forth new problems, which man will solve in a short time." "What is required is a distinct American philosophy and economy," etc., etc.

It is more than 55 years since Henry George wrote his "Progress and Poverty," almost three generations ago. The identical problems which afflict us today seem to have been in vogue then. A modern reader is amazed at the freshness and vitality of this work. An alert politician could plagiarize the opening chapter, "The Problem," and, quoting it verbatim, be hailed as a seer with vision.

Almost three generations! What an indictment! The cures that have been tried and are now finding favor are those which the author predicts will fail.

Here is a distinctly native approach and proposal for a cure for this problem. The premises are secure and the logical deductions almost incontrovertible. The stigma of foreign names or isms, which the conservative powers so effectively sabotage through emotional prejudice, are missing. S. A. MARX.

Analysis of Germany's Jewish Population.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

ONCE again the Jews are harassed and beaten up while the Berlin police and authorities look on without interference. This is the result of never-ending newspaper propaganda which is so vile that the German Government makes every effort to prevent it from reaching the United States and other foreign countries while, at the same time, Goering, Goebbels, Rosenberg and others rouse the people to action by public speeches.

If the persecution of the Jews were not so pitifully tragic, I would call this war against them extremely ridiculous and an act of utter stupidity. According to Germany's own figures, there are at present about 550,000 Jews living in Germany out of a population of about 62,000,000.

To point out the great "danger" of domination by these 550,000 Communists, bankers, storekeepers, lawyers, doctors, etc., let me analyze this minority. Debauched children, mothers and unmarried women, the number is greatly reduced; and there must also be deducted the old or crippled and those who are just making a living, or are extremely poor. In any case, it is self-evident that whatever number remains, it is impossible that this handful, scattered all over the German Reich, can endanger the lives of 62,000,000 "intelligent" Germans. The Communists at one time cast many millions of votes; the vast majority must have been Aryans.

My object in making this analysis is to convince of their error such persons as may think the power of the Jews in Germany is so great that Hitler and others are justified in the attempt to exterminate them.

J. S. WALGREEN.

ITALY VS. ETHIOPIA.

Why has Italy determined to wage a war of conquest on Ethiopia, an independent African nation whose territorial integrity she has promised to respect? In the words of Mussolini: "We have decided on a struggle in which we as a government and a people will not turn back." He has sent an army of more than 200,000 men to Africa for this struggle. There can be no doubt as to his decision.

The reasons for this impending war are numerous, but all can be summed up in a phrase: "Might makes right." Various acts of aggression by Ethiopia are alleged, for instance, of which the most important was the engagement at Ualual last December, in which 30 Italian colonial soldiers and 110 Ethiopians were killed. This was denounced by Italy as "an attack without warning . . . grave and gratuitous aggression . . . an outrage."

But where is Ualual? Not in Italian territory, but by no less an authority than official Italian maps, 50 miles within Ethiopian territory! (The maps were withdrawn after the incident.) Col. E. H. M. Clifford, a British officer, witnessed the battle. His report substantiated most of the Ethiopian charges, and accused Italy of provocation.

It is little wonder that Emperor Haile Selassie called the Italian charges "pure fiction," and said: "All such pretended incidents are merely pretexts for Italian military preparations." He is an enlightened and educated ruler, who realizes the grave difficulty of controlling his wild tribesmen, and is prompt to make reparations when they overstep. The Ualual incident became of major importance because he refused to do so, feeling right was on his side.

Thus seeking pretexts for war, Italy is motivated, for one thing, by revenge. In 1896, an Italian army of 13,000 men, also bent on conquest, was cut to pieces by a superior Ethiopian force. Sixty-five hundred were killed; many of the wounded and of the 4,000 prisoners were dispatched with horrible tortures. Italy paid an indemnity of $2,000,000 and recognized Ethiopia's "absolute independence." It was the worst defeat ever administered in Africa to a European Power. Mussolini holds it up as a blot on his nation's honor, to be wiped out only by Italy's "rewriting a heroic page of her history."

Italy feels, too, that she has been cheated in the dismemberment of Africa. She holds some 600,000 square miles in Eritrea, Somaliland, Tripolitania and Cyrenaica, it is true, but the other Powers have greater holdings and much of Italy's domain is desert. Italy was to have "equitable compensation" in Africa as a result of the World War, according to the secret treaty of London in 1915, but England and France carried off the lion's share of the spoils. Now Ethiopia beckons—a rich and unexploited land, fertile in many parts and possessed of rich mineral deposits, with an upland climate regarded as suitable for Italian colonization.

Ethiopia thus is fated to become a belated victim of the imperialist system. Italy is one of the "unexpanded" nations, whose economic plight looms among Europe's current problems. In accordance with the time-honored practices of imperialism, she is entitled to expand at the expense of an independent nation, as were the other Powers in their heyday of partitioning Africa and Asia. A fairer division of their spoils, to allow for the Italian claims, might have safeguarded the ancient Christian nation, a member of the League of Nations, now about to become Italy's prey.

Another phase of the Italian explanations is the alleged duty of carrying civilization into a backward and barbarous nation. By Western standards, much is lacking in Ethiopia. Sanitation, schools and highways are poor; slavery exists; the people are pawns in an economic system resembling medieval feudalism.

Haile Selassie has made notable progress, however, in remedying these deficiencies. A League commission has found slavery notably reduced. Roads have been built and other reforms accomplished during his reign. It is a cruel irony that the barbarous machines of modern warfare are now being rushed to Africa to "civilize" this nation. It is a subterfuge that ancient conquerors and modern imperialists have leaned upon, but its validity is not thereby established.

Mussolini, too, has spoken so eloquently and so often of reviving Rome's ancient glories that he must now carry out his promises. Fascism was to create a greater Italy, and the African adventure is the result of building up the military spirit and the war machine. It is Duce who saddled upon his people.

Graver reasons than these surface causes lie behind the whole episode, however. As Guglielmo Ferrero, exiled Italian historian, wrote recently in the Post-Dispatch, "The war in Ethiopia is only a means for concealing the complete failure of Fascism's European policy by directing public attention to another objective." Not only has Italy failed to gain its objectives in the field of European diplomacy, but the economic status at home has become precarious. Mussolini therefore stakes all on the desperate gamble of war in Africa, to rally the people behind him against a common foe, and to create a diversion on the European diplomatic front.

The actual collision of armies apparently awaits only the end of Ethiopia's rainy season, in September. The forms of arbitration are still being observed, it is true, but only half-heartedly on Italy's part. That it will be a bitter and protracted conflict is certain. The African tribesmen, fighting for their liberties, will lose all the horrors of savage warfare upon the invaders. Italian airplanes will bring destruction to the remotest native villages. Whether Italy, in the event of victory, will be able to dominate the whole country and fight off the inevitable guerrilla attacks of the tribesmen is doubted by the military experts.

The sanctity of treaties and the prestige of the League of Nations are imperiled by Italy's decision. Italy, declaring she is seeking to carry civilization into a barbarous land, may end by bringing new barbarities into the civilized countries whose peace machinery she so arbitrarily weakens in obeying the jungle law of "Might makes right."

DEPORTED AGAIN.

"I'll come back," said Hugh Macleod, as he embarked last Friday for his sixth deportation from the United States. And it is virtually certain that the indomitable Scot will be back, and will keep on coming back, as long as the breath of life is in him or until the Government relents and permits him to join his family in this country.

His is an extraordinary case. A war veteran whose good character is vouched for by eminent sponsors, he is forbidden to live in this country and make a living for his wife and two children because he was once accused of a $10 theft in Canada.

But arrest, imprisonment, adamant officialdom and deportation do not deter him; he keeps on trying. So our Government, feeling itself imperiled by this man's devotion to his family, continues to play cat and mouse with him. It is, from any aspect, a shabby game that is being played.

MISREADING THE CONSTITUTION.

In a letter which we printed the other day, one of our correspondents offered as a criticism of our recent editorial, "The Basis for Judicial Review," the fact that we took no notice of Section 2, paragraph 2, of the article of the Constitution which provides for the Federal judiciary and the national judicial power.

This paragraph follows paragraphs vesting the judicial power in one Supreme Court and such inferior courts as Congress may establish, and stating the nature and extent of this power. It reads as follows:

In all cases affecting Ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned (those listed in the preceding paragraph), the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as Congress shall make.

The reason why no mention was made of this paragraph should be obvious. It is not germane. It has no bearing on the question under discussion, namely, the right of the Supreme Court to declare an act of Congress in conflict with the Constitution.

The mistake of our correspondent is in his interpretation of the clause "with such exceptions and under such regulations as Congress shall make." He reads this to mean that Congress has the power to stipulate, if it so chooses, that a given law is to be such an "exception" and thereby make it secure from possible invalidation by the Supreme Court. The text, of course, does not bear out any such conclusion, as can be readily shown.

In the paragraphs preceding that which our correspondent cites, the framers of the Constitution dealt with the nature of the judicial power and the authority for exercising it. With the opening of the paragraph in question, they turned their attention to matters of procedure. Accordingly, the cases in which the Supreme Court is to have "original" jurisdiction are first stated. Next, those cases in which the court shall have "appellate" jurisdiction are designated—"with such exceptions . . . as Congress shall make."

In other words, the word "exceptions" relates not to the power or authority of the Supreme Court to review acts of Congress. It relates only to the procedure through which this authority is to be exercised—whether the court shall have original jurisdiction or appellate jurisdiction, that is, whether suit may be entertained by the court if filed directly with the court or only after suit has been entertained by an inferior court and appealed to the Supreme Court. Doubtless because the framers of the Constitution felt that the time might come when circumstances would require an increase in the kind of cases in which the Supreme Court should have original jurisdiction, they gave Congress the right to make "exceptions" to the cases in which it was granted appellate jurisdiction.

Our correspondent and any others who have been misled by the "exceptions" clause will find, on recourse to the explanatory notes of the Annotated Constitution (Senate Document 154, Sixty-eighth Congress, first session), that numerous cases show this to have been the law from the outset.

MORE REGISTRATION WASTE.

St. Louis held another one of its costly and basically unnecessary registrations last Thursday, this time to enroll voters for the river front bond issue election set for Sept. 10. It was the old, old story, all over again. The city's 669 polling places were opened; judges and clerks went on duty. A total of 14,855 persons registered, at a total cost of about $70,000, making the cost per registrant around $4.71. It was the second registration of the year. The first, Feb. 14, cost $2.75 per registrant.

So, because politicians were successful in blocking adoption of permanent registration at the last legislative session, St. Louis throws away more of the taxpayers' money. Cities that have adopted permanent registration find the cost runs from 4 to 12 cents annually per voter, as opposed to St. Louis' average of 45 cents. In addition to economy, records are better kept, and chance of fraud notably decreased. But St. Louis continues to pay tribute to its politicians and their desire for patronage by a waste estimated at $100,000 per year.

The fight for permanent registration is not over, of course. Such recurring exhibits as that of last Thursday merely offer fresh arguments for it, and bring its adoption that much earlier.

CONGRESS AND THE LEGION.

Edward J. Hayes, former national commander of the American Legion, told an audience in Salem, Ill., that the Legion had been snubbed in Washington. He heard a Senate leader say that "just because you wore a uniform that does not place you in any different category from the rest of us." Moreover, a similar remark was made by the President of the United States, complains Mr. Hayes.

"When I went to Washington to represent the Legion," he said, "I was told by leaders there was no place for us there. We had to go to the back door of the Senate and then found it impossible to get in. Side-door recognition was all we got. Some there had queer visions of the man who wore the uniform."

Was Mr. Hayes in Washington recently when both the House and the Senate, by huge majorities, passed the Patman bill for immediate payment of the bonus; when the House repassed the bill over the President's veto; when, if not the Legion as such, the veterans' lobby was said by commentators all over the country to have demonstrated once again its enormous power over Congress?

Was Mr. Hayes in Washington in the decade 1920-30, when nearly every measure sponsored by the American Legion or other veterans' organizations was passed by Congress? Was he there in 1931 when, over the veto of President Hoover, Congress passed the law permitting soldiers to borrow 50 per cent on their adjusted compensation certificates?

If the Legion has come to the point where it can only get side-door recognition, Mr. Hayes, in telling the country about it, has scored no mean news feat.

To take the Nazis at their word, Germany is a land unanimously behind its Government, and full of traitorous dissenters.

The Mayor: I, Too, Will Fight It Out on This Line if It Takes All Summer.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

What Is the Answer?

THE tendency of Government control to expand like a snowball was neatly illustrated the other day by Mark Sullivan. He pointed out that the administration started out with the intention of controlling four basic crops: wheat, cotton, corn-hogs and tobacco. Having arranged to reduce cotton acreage, the cotton raisers put this idle land into peanuts. This produced too many peanuts. So the peanut acreage had to be reduced. The idle peanut land was then turned to potatoes. This produced too many potatoes. So potatoes are to be controlled. This, as Senator King prophesied the other day, will lead to Government control of carrots, cabbages, lettuce and tomatoes.

Mr. Sullivan says that this "is the most important thing going on in America, and hardly a handful of people understand it." There is no doubt about its importance and its grave dangers, but I wish Mr. Sullivan would tell us who are the handful of people who understand it.

In his own writings on the subject, Mr. Sullivan appears to think that interference with the operation of supply and demand in a free competitive market began with Franklin D. Roosevelt and the New Dealers. Would that this were true. For then the remedy would be a simple one. This dangerous tendency could be stopped and reversed by electing Mr. Hoover or some other Republican.

Yet the record shows that Mr. Hoover had a farm program based on essentially the same principle of Government intervention against free markets. President Hoover, like President Roosevelt, used Federal funds to peg farm prices and sought to reduce production under Government leadership. Mr. Roosevelt has paid the farmer to reduce his acreage in order to limit the supply to raise the price; Mr. Hoover asked the farmer to reduce his acreage and paid out millions to raise the price.

This would seem to prove that the tendency which alarms Mr. Sullivan is older than the New Deal, that it is not the invention of the Brain Trust, that its origins are deeper than they appear to be. As a matter of fact, we know that the farm problem antedates the depression and that every session since 1921, Congress has tried to legislate some scheme which would help the farmer. Before the Triple A, there was the Farm Board, and before the Farm Board, there was the long controversy over the McNary-Haugen bill.

For about 15 years, the farmers have been complaining that the prices they receive are low, whereas the prices they have to pay for manufactured goods are protected by tariffs, by monopolies and trade agreements, by labor unions and statutory wages, and that these prices are relatively high. The depression proved beyond the possibility of dispute that this complaint is just. The farmers' prices are unprotected, whereas most other prices are in one way or another artificially protected against the free play of supply and demand.

of 1933, the price of agricultural commodities fell 63 per cent, but the production fell only 6 per cent. On the other hand, the price of agricultural implements which the farmer buys, fell only 6 per cent, but the production of those implements fell 80 per cent. This illustrates vividly the nature of the problem: the farmer with his low prices and large production; the manufacturer with his high prices and his reduced production.

It is clear that if there is to be a fair exchange between farm and factory, one of two things must happen: Either the farmer must control his production and keep up his price as the manufacturer does, or the manufacturer must continue his production and lower his price. The administration chose to use Government power to enable the farmer to imitate the manufacturer.

Mr. Sullivan deprecates this as a dangerous tendency, and I heartily agree with him. But the question both of us have to answer is this: If the farmer is to be left to the operation of supply and demand, how is the operation of supply and demand to be restored in the manufacturing industries?

If Mr. Sullivan knows a handful of people who have the answer to this question, he would do a great service to the country by expounding their views. This is not said in order to start an argument. It is said in the sincere desire to learn whether there is a practicable alternative to this dangerous accumulation of Government control over prices and production.

HITLER'S CONSISTENCY.

From the Chicago Daily News.

HE is a rare person in the arena of statecraft or any other field of public controversy who can fight long without facing the "deadly parallel" of inconsistency.

Last March 16, Chancellor Hitler, in a proclamation to his devoted Nazis, declared: "In November, 1918, the German people, taking at their face value the assurances of Wilson's 14 points, laid down their arms after a glorious resistance of four years in a war which they had never desired."

That authoritative statement of German reluctance for war stirred the memory of an editor in Paris. On his shelf stood a book entitled "Mein Kampf," author, Adolf Hitler. The editor turned to a marked page and transcribed the columns he would regard as an assertion no less authoritative, because from the same authority.

It read: "The war of 1914 was not forced upon the masses. The whole people wished for it. I am not ashamed to say this: Upon the news of the declaration of war, I was filled with such an overflow of enthusiasm that I fell down upon my knees and with a full heart thanked heaven for having given me the joy of living at such a time."

Doubtless Herr Reichskanzler Hitler is one of those who fortify themselves behind the philosophy voiced by Emerson: "A foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds, adored by little statesmen." He would probably regard as foolish a consistency which inhibited the reshaping of even one's profoundest conviction to suit the current exigency in a statesman's career.

Concentrate, Mr. President!

From the Pittsburgh Press.

HOW the opposition to the New Deal has become emboldened is strikingly demonstrated by talk of impeachment, now heard from Republican Floor Leader Snell.

There was a time not long ago when the minority carefully avoided any direct attack on the President. It confined its criticism to the Brain Trust and studiously laid off Roosevelt himself. Now, that's all over. Roosevelt no longer occupies the purely defensive position that he once did. He is personally and officially on the defensive in many directions. That fact should not be laughed off. As a newspaper which has supported the New Deal, we want to offer some friendly advice. It is this:

Concentrate, Mr. President. Concentrate on that one big plan you announced last January—the plan that was to be the key to all the rest. Follow through. If you don't, your whole show will be in danger.

We refer to the $4,850,000 re-employment-recovery program. The premise was to put all re-employables in this nation to work. Nov. 1 was the date when that happy end was to be accomplished.

The definiteness of that program as originally stated, the assurance which accompanied the naming of a terminal date, inspired this nation with the greatest hope it has had since the depression struck. Disappointment if the promise fails will be deep and bitter. Despair will be in ratio to the magnitude of the hope that was created.

Should that one major plan not succeed, should we go into another January with another call for other billions with which to try, try again, Franklin D. Roosevelt will go under such a fire as to make the one which is now being concentrated on him seem nothing at all by comparison.

As the situation now stands, the big plan is not working out. Six months have gone; only three months remain until Nov. 1. We believe we realize the tremendous burdens and requirements and distractions of the presidential job, and the seeming impossibility of many things other than the main chance.

But all other things and all other issues put together amount to nothing if the key arch fails.

So we urge—concentrate. Forget the Snells and forget the Huey Longs. Forget politics—forget November, 1936. Draw a bead on November, 1935, and 1936 will take care of itself.

SAVE THE TREES.

From the Cleveland Press.

A S summer advances, the Forest Service reports an increasing number of man-caused fires in the 150 national forests of America. In the last 10 days of June, its crews were busy fighting an average of 23 fires a day.

Disquieting is the report that 20 of these were caused by lighted matches and tobacco, unguarded camp fires, brush burning and other acts of human carelessness.

In the first half of 1935, 2902 forest fires were due to such thoughtlessness, as compared with 2279 in the same months last year. So far, 105,000 acres have been burned, as against 72,000 in the same time last year.

Some of these added losses are due to increased travel through America's inviting green mansions. Others are due to the fact that several million new acres have been added to the national forests. But much is due to wanton unconcern by campers and others of their duties as guests. A single match can destroy millions of dollars' worth of timber wealth, result in incalculable flood and erosion danger, lay waste magnificent forests that will require a century for men and nature to rebuild.

The DAILY MERRY GO

By DREW PEARSON and

WASHINGTON, July 29. THE story of what all the shouting is about in the Senate over the central bank bill can be told in these words:

Shall the credit structure of the country continue to be ruled by the private bankers, or shall control be vested in the hands of the Government?

That is all there is to it. The entire fight centers on the making-up of the pivotal credit-controlling agency—the Open Market Committee.

This committee, under the new bill, will rule the open market sale and purchase of Government bonds. In other words, it will hold the throttle of Government credit, the crux of the financial system of the country.

As the bill emerged from the House Banking Committee and was approved by the House, the membership of this key agency was made up of the seven members of the Federal Reserve Board, all Government officials appointed by the President with Senate approval.

But in the Senate Banking Committee a combination of Old Guard Democrats and Republicans, led by Virginia's Carter Glass, wiped out this clear-cut governmental control.

The pro-banker bloc did not dare go to the whole hog and set up outright private banker domination. But they did so by indirection.

In place of the Federal Reserve Board making up the Open Market Committee was substituted a milk-and-water combination of the seven Reserve Board members plus five bankers chosen by the privately-owned reserve banks.

On the surface this would appear a fairly acceptable compromise—seven Government representatives against five bankers.

Actually, however, the lineup would mean banker control. Experience repeatedly has shown that at least two of the Reserve Board members always line up with the bankers.

Big Jim.

JIM FARLEY may be about to retire as Postmaster-General, but he is neglecting no tricks regarding the vote registration of New York.

A total of 1200 New Yorkers now have landed cushy Government jobs in Washington, and the ever-watchful Big Jim wants their votes to count.

So, since they cannot count in the voteless District of Columbia, Jim is planning a special excursion. During the week-end from Aug. 10 to 18 special rail will be given to New York's 1200 to take the train home for registration. Once they register they can vote by mail. But after August it will be too late.

Comments on General Strike Says Honest Labor Is Merit Ranks.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON. NEW YORK, July 29.

ON the side of the ending of the Terre Haute general strike has not been made clear enough in the news. It is the good part played by the Department of Labor and the leaders of the labor movement in America.

A general strike is not action aimed at one side of a labor dispute. It is not pressure put upon an employer. It is a direct assault against a whole community. It cuts off the food supply. It stops milk for babies and invalids. It kills transportation and thus prevents or hinders all people in the pursuit of their daily business and the commerce of the community. It cuts off gasoline, light, power and telephone communication and thus paralyzes hospital, medical, sanitary and all personal service.

In a word, it breaks up the dependence of each of us on the services of all the rest of us. With such an interruption in full effect, no sizeable modern community could live a week without extreme suffering, starvation and many deaths. No one who has not seen a general strike in operation can imagine the suppressed terror that it puts upon a town.

It is economic strangulation. In the World War we learned that, in modern conditions, that is a worse weapon than gas or guns or aircraft. It brought the Central Powers to defeat when the armed forces

But when the Senate finally got down to the concluding rollcall, Dickinson ducked the showdown. A few minutes before the vote was taken he slipped quietly out of the Senate.

Note: Explanation for Dickinson's squeamishness is the fact that the farm-belt is decidedly pro-AAA. Witness: The recent "grassroots" Republican conference did not dare pass resolutions condemning the Democratic crop-benefit program.

Comments on General Strike in Terre Haute—Says Honest Labor Is Menaced by Radicals in Ranks.

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON.
NEW YORK, July 29.

ONE side of the ending of the Terre Haute general strike has not been made clear enough in the news. It is the good part played by the Department of Labor and the leaders of the labor movement in America.

A general strike is not action aimed at one side of a labor dispute. It is not pressure put upon an employer. It is direct assault against a whole community. It cuts off the food supply. It stops milk for babies and invalids. It kills transportation and thus prevents or hinders all people in the pursuit of their daily business and the commerce of the community with the rest of the country. It cuts off gasoline, light, power and telephone communication and thus paralyzes hospital, medical, sanitary and all personal service.

In a word, it breaks up the dependence of each of us on the services of all the rest of us. With such an interruption in full effect, no sizeable modern community could live a week without extreme suffering, starvation and many deaths. No one who has not seen a general strike in operation can imagine the suppressed terror that it puts upon a town.

It is economic strangulation. In the World War we learned that, in modern conditions, that is a worse weapon than gas or guns or aircraft. It brought the Central Powers to defeat when the armed force of all the rest of the world had failed to do so. Through submarine, it came within a narrow margin of defeating England.

The use of this power against a peaceful city is nothing less than civil war. It is a deadly attack on the community. If innocent bystanders were wantonly shot down by machine guns, the whole country would be aroused and willing to march against the rioters in a day. Because, though more deadly, this modern warfare is less spectacular, we regard it simply as a piece of news.

No general strike ever succeeded. This weapon has been tried in England, where it was amply financed and supported by a newspaper with $500,000 circulation. It was tried in France and in Italy—all subversive elements in the ranks.

It is well for the country to realize this danger and to give the support that should be given to the labor movement who are sometimes striking everything to fight this menace.

"CAT AND THE FIDDLE"

OPERA OPENS TONIGHT

Two Members of Original Indoor Cast to Take Part.

"The Cat and the Fiddle," Jerome Kern's musical romance, is the Municipal Theater play for the week beginning tonight. This was a conspicuous success of the 1933 season, when the week's attendance was 69,500.

Two members of the original indoor stage cast of "The Cat and the Fiddle" will appear in this production. Odette Myrtil, actress-violinist, will have the role of Odette, which she originated. This is her first appearance on the Forest Park stage. Bobby Jarvis will also have the part in which he played on Broadway and in the road production, seen here.

Robert Halliday and Nancy McCord will have the principal roles in the production, Miss McCord having played the same role here two years ago. Others in the cast will be Audrey Christie, William Hain, Leslie Adams, Al Downing, Roy Gordon, Sheila Dille, Frank Hazzard, Charles Gallagher, Una Val, Earle MacVeigh, Marion Huntley, Phil Farley, Duke McHale, Rosemary Deering and Chiquita Matthews.

The performance, in two acts and 15 scenes, is the ninth production of the 1935 season. Last night's final performance of Robert Stolz's "Beloved Rogue" had an attendance of 8500, making a week's total of 58,000. Next Monday night, Aug. 5, Sigmund Romberg's "Desert Song" will be the offering, and will be directed by its original stage producer, Laurence Schwab, producing director of the Municipal Opera. Robert Halliday and Ruby Mercer will be the principals.

B. L. ROBINSON OF HARVARD, BOTANY AUTHORITY, DIES

Brother of James Harvey Robinson, Historian, Was Native of Bloomington, Ill.

NEW YORK, July 29.—Prof. Benjamin Lincoln Robinson, 70 years old, of Harvard, one of the foremost authorities in the world on systematic botany, died Saturday night at Jeffery, N. H., his summer home.

A native of Bloomington, Ill., he had been at a Glimpse professor at Harvard since 1899. Last March he resigned and was named professor emeritus.

His body will be cremated at Cambridge and the ashes will be taken to Bloomington.

A brother, James Harvey Robinson, the historian, and two sisters, Miss Sarah Robinson and Mrs. Mary Bushnell, both of Springfield, Mass., survive.

His wife, the former Margaret Casson of Hennepin, Ill., died in 1932.

'BLIND' FLIGHT OF 400 MILES

Longest Such Test Made by Army Aviators.

SAN RAFAEL, Cal., July 29.—Authorities at Hamilton Field, army bombing base, announced yesterday the successful completion of a 400-mile "blind flying" test, which they said was the longest such flight ever undertaken by army aviators.

The flight, made by Capt. Charles G. Williamson and Lieut. Edwin W. Virgin, was from Hamilton Field to Clover Field, Santa Monica, Cal. In the covered cockpit plane, the aviators used radio and flight instruments to guide them. Capt. Williamson drew a hood over the cockpit immediately after the take-off, and it was not removed until the men were ready to land in Southern California.

'STORY OF STE. GENEVIEVE'

History of Town Written by the Rev. Francis J. Yealy, S. J.

A history of Ste. Genevieve, Mo., which will celebrate its 200th anniversary next month, has been written by the Rev. Francis J. Yealy, S. J., professor of English at St. Louis University. The book is entitled, "The Story of Ste. Genevieve, the Story of Missouri's Oldest Settlement."

In gathering data, Father Yealy used the Ste. Genevieve archives and the Valle papers which are kept at Jefferson Memorial, and church records of the parish of Ste. Genevieve. The town under the government of France, Spain and finally the United States is discussed in the book, which was published by the Bi-Centennial Historical Committee of Ste. Genevieve.

AUDITOR THINKS SALES TAX COINS MAY BE READY IN TIME

Smith Says Collection of New Missouri Levy Probably Will Start Sept. 1.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 29.—State Auditor Forrest Smith was back at his desk today, confident that the Federal Government would coin mill and half-cent pieces in time for use when Missouri's 1 per cent sales tax law goes into effect, Aug. 27.

Smith, however, said his department, which will administer the sales tax law, would probably not make the shift from the present sales tax of 1/2 of 1 per cent, to the new until Sept. 1.

"If the new proposed coins are not ready for distribution by Sept. 1, will the new law be workable?" he was asked.

"Well, we won't cross any bridges until we get to them," he said.

He hoped to work out some type of bracketing system by tomorrow. "We still have in mind the system they are using in the State of Washington," he said.

In that State, sales up to 5 cents are not taxed, a 1-mill tax is paid on sales between 5 and 14 cents, two mills are paid on sales ranging from 15 to 24 cents, and so forth.

"That's a system of give and take," he said. "On sales of less than 10 cents, the customer gives and the merchant takes a little, and on sales above 10 cents and up to 14 cents, the customer takes and the merchant gives a little. The State under this method, would receive the equivalent of 1 per cent, as authorized under the act."

THE REV J. A. MCLOREY DIES

Jesus Priest of Detroit Was With Rev. John A. McClorey, S. J., died yesterday in Providence Hospital after an extended illness. Father McClorey, who was 61 years old, came to Detroit in 1917 after serving in the Jesuit college in Chicago, Prairie du Chien, Wis., and St. Louis, Mo.

Father McClorey was connected with St. Louis University from 1912 until 1917 as professor of philosophy and public speaking. While here he spoke on Sunday nights at St. Francis Xavier (College) Church on Catholic history and church dogmas. In 1929 he returned to give the baccalaureate sermon to the graduates of St. Louis University.

INDOSES PLANE REGULATION

McManamy of I. C. C. Supports McCarran Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 29.—Frank McManamy, member of the Interstate Commerce Commission, today endorsed the McCarran bill placing regulation of air transport of passengers and freight under that agency.

In a letter to a subcommittee of the Interstate Commerce Committee, headed by Senator Donahy (Dem.), Ohio, McManamy said the bill offered by Senator McCarran (Dem.), Nevada, would "promote orderly and safe development of air transportation with due regard for the interests of the Government, the public and the operators." "At present," he wrote, "the service is regulated solely with regard to the dispatch of the mail, rather than the public convenience and necessity."

Artist Arrives for Capitol Murals.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 29.—Thomas Hart Benton, the artist, was here today making preliminary arrangements for the painting of murals in the House lounge at the State Capitol. Benton said it would take from six to eight months' study to prepare the work in properly pictorializing Missouri, and five to six months to paint the murals. The State Legislature last spring voted a $15,000 appropriation for this work.

NAZIS STANDARDIZING RADIO ENUNCIATION

Foreign Words, German Dialect Being Culled From Speech of Announcers.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 29.—The Nazi Reichs radio broadcasting chief leader, Eugen Hadamovsky, has created a department for the linguistic education of the German radio speaker.

Hadamovsky deems the schooling of announcers necessary to "maintain the originality of the German language." He finds that the pronunciation of certain words, especially foreign words, and the manner in which an announcer speaks will be adopted by the people and especially by the younger generation.

The culling of foreign words from Germany is being done in the linguistic department. Germanization of indispensable foreign words, proper nouns and names goes on in hand with the preliminary work of editing a "directory of the microphone." Meanwhile German scientists are seeking German synonyms for internationally used technical expressions.

The words "radio" or "broadcasting" which were much in use here were translated into "rundfunk," literally meaning "allround sound telephony." "Aerial" or "antenna" have been translated into "luftleitung" (aerial wire).

The variety of German dialects is another reason for creating a uniform German radio language. "The pronunciation of a foreign word by a Saxon speaker in Saxon dialect, or by a Bavarian announcer in Bavarian idiom so distorts the word," says Prof. Karl Graef, head of the linguistic department, "that it is hardly possible for a Northern German to understand its meaning."

The linguistic department, however, does not seek to eliminate the dialects. "On the contrary, we shall promote them," said Prof. Graef, "but dialect will be eliminated from the radio as far as the transmission of news reports or lectures is concerned."

ZOO GIRAFFES ATTRACT MANY VISITORS FROM OUT OF TOWN

New Baby Elephant a Favorite With Children—Crowds See Lions Perform.

Three giraffes, the first owned by the St. Louis Zoo, attracted large crowds of visitors yesterday, including many from out of town. Spectators lined the giraffes' indoor quarters, where the animals stayed most of the day.

The new baby elephant, Mara Janida, also was a favorite with the children. Three performances of the lions and tigers in the Lion House, and three monkey performances, including the "Chimpanzee Kindergarten," were viewed by capacity crowds.

After three months of preparation, the opera season will open Oct. 31 with the presentation of "Turandot." Puccini's lyric drama of ancient China. Performances will be given in the new convention hall under the Municipal Auditorium, at a price schedule from 50 cents to $3.

FINAL TRAINING CAMP REVIEW TOMORROW

Prizes and Honors to Be Awarded and Parade Held at Barracks.

The final parade will be held and prizes and honors awarded at the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Jefferson Barracks tomorrow. Maj. William A. Smith, commanding officer of the Sixth Infantry, will review the 1490 student soldiers.

Following the review, which will be held on the parade ground, the student soldiers will march to the stadium, where prizes for scholarship and athletic prowess will be awarded. From 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. rifles will be turned in. During the afternoon the student soldiers will exchange the uniforms they have been wearing for the past four weeks for their civilian clothes.

The camp will end Wednesday morning at 7:30 o'clock, at which time the youths will be issued transportation to their homes at the rate of 5 cents a mile.

HELD FOR DEATH OF BROTHER IN FIGHT AFTER QUARREL

Earle Doyle in Pike County Jail Following Motor Trip to Louisiana, Mo.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISIANA, Mo., July 29.—Ernest Wayne Doyle, 21 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doyle, senior in Louisiana high school and an outstanding member of the track team during freshman and sophomore years, died in a hospital here early yesterday morning from knife wounds inflicted by his brother, Earl Doyle, 27, in a quarrel on Highway 54, about a mile west of here about midnight Saturday.

Earle Doyle waived a preliminary hearing and is held in the Pike County jail at Bowling Green, without bond, for trial in October.

The fight was the result of an argument which began soon after they left Louisiana in the family car to return home, two miles west of here. Other members of the family in the car were their father, mother, a sister and two brothers. Earl and Ernest got out of the car, and, according to testimony at the inquest, began fighting.

A Coroner's jury returned a verdict that Doyle came to his death by knife wounds inflicted by his brother, Earl. Earl was arrested Sunday morning, near the scene of the cutting.

Italy's Gold in London.
The Lord's Selection.
Gold in Those Pockets.
August for Furniture.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE.
(Copyright, 1935.)

A FINANCIAL expert says "Japan and Italy will both have difficulties finding gold" to carry through the Ethiopian war complications.

How does the gentleman think Napoleon managed to carry on his wars, when he went to Italy, representing the revolution, beating Italy and Austria with ease, then taking over the revolution, beating almost the whole of Europe. He took charge of France and after inflation had made the assignat currency almost as cheap as waste paper. War, competently managed, makes gold unnecessary.

Gold in Those Pockets.

FINANCIAL expert says "Japan and Italy will both have difficulties finding gold" to carry through the Ethiopian war complications. THE MARCH OF FASHION

By Sylvia Stiles

FASHIONABLE women of St. Louis continue to demonstrate that this is a summer of colors. White frocks are included in their wardrobes but the tinted ones are the most impressive. When white is worn it is frequently in a bright or a deep color.

Among fabrics, there has been a decided preference for nets and other members adorned the front of the blouse. Boucles and other knitted versions of the informal mode also are among the most attractive seen where well-dressed women gather.

Navy blue net was worn by Mrs. Edward French at the Hotel Chase roof one evening last week. Her frock was of the popular shirtwaist type over a slip of navy blue taffeta. Among the distinctive features of the blouse were the high tailored collar of pink crepe, the deep yoke both front and back to which the lower sections were gathered, and the very short, puffy sleeves. Three large ball shaped buttons of pink composition adorned the front closing of the blouse. The skirt was cut straight of line with the exception of kick pleats at the center front.

To complete her costume, Mrs. French had on a wide brimmed pink felt hat with a flattering brim and a navy blue parasol. She carried a navy blue bag.

Coral pink is a shade which continues to be important in the mode and is most attractive of boucle. Mrs. Glenn Burkhardt was noted at the same roof dining room in a frock of boucle, coral or shade. The blouse was a two-piece type, the overblouse having a high round neckline and a deep square yolk. Three-quarter length sleeves were bell shaped and slashed the full length although held together at intervals with navy blue crocheted buttons. The accent tone of navy was repeated in the dark blue band on Mrs. Burkhardt's coral colored fabric hat.

The use of colors in combination with white was illustrated by the costume chosen by Mrs. William G. Osterwisch. It was a one-piece dress of white chalk crepe, with a wide belt of white silk and white tie. The dress, a one-piece model of white chalk crepe, was worn with a wide belt of white silk and white tie. The dress, a one-piece model of white chalk crepe, was worn with a wide belt of white silk and white tie.

Mrs. Oscar H. Wolff was attractive in a frock of pink crepe while dining at the Statler. A double collar of white organdie extended to the shoulders. It was trimmed with the pink crepe and at the front there was a tufted ornament of brown corded fabric. Short sleeves were effective at either side of the front of the blouse, the upper portion being covered with patch pockets. The skirt carried out the pleated theme with the pleated clusters at the front, sides and back. Pockets finished the tops of the side pleats. A belt of the crepe fastened with swirling buttons made of the brown cords. Mrs. Wolff's large brimmed hat of natural colored straw was trimmed with a wide bias fold of brown taffeta placed flat on top of the brim. Brown and white, too, were carried out the accent tones used in the costume.

Mrs. Russell Larkin was seen at the Park Plaza in a smartly styled brown net shirtwaist frock which has its own hip length jacket. The net was embroidered with tiny white flowers, offering a variation from the usual fabric of this type. A white collar added a cluster of white flowers at the front. A group of flowers appeared at either side of the front of the blouse while the skirt emphasized front fullness by a pleated section. Cap sleeves had the flared line introduced by inverted pleats at the shoulders. Mrs. Larkin's hat was of brown ballybunt straw and her footwear was white.

Save the Potatoes. If you find the dinner is going to be delayed for some time and the potatoes will have to stay in the boiling water too long, either mash or slice them and they will be much more palatable than water-sogged boiled potatoes.

Sorrow Shared Usually Helps Decrease Pain

It Makes One Realize Others Suffer Similar Experiences.

By Elsie Robinson

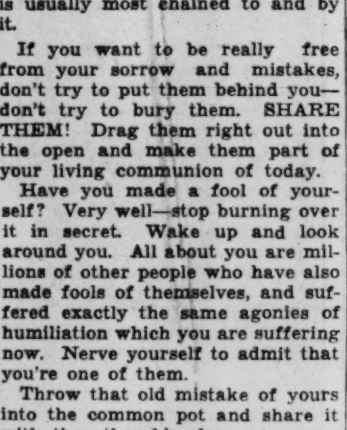

IF YOU'VE made a mistake, if you've had a sorrow, put it behind you and go on. You've listened to that advice a thousand times, haven't you? Heard it in every crisis of your life, from baby tears to mature despair, and honestly tried to follow it. But it didn't work, did it? The more you put it behind you, the more you turned back. Until looking back became such a constant habit that perhaps today you're actually living in the past.

The present has no reality to you. The demands of today only serve to remind you of the days that are gone. The pain around you only makes you remember the times you have wept or battled. Like Lot's foolish wife, you have become a "pillar of salt"—the salt of your vain remembering.

You don't protest—want to live like that. You know it's folly to look back—that it wastes present opportunities, alienates your friends and ends in heartbreak. Yet you can't help yourself. In spite of yourself, you turn—

Of course you do. And the reason's perfectly plain. YOU LOOK BACK BECAUSE YOU'VE NOTHING ELSE TO DO. You continue to think of yesterday because you have no living stake in today.

No man can free himself of his blunders and griefs by putting them behind him, or trying to forget them. Even though he never mentions them, they will still bind him by steel shackles. Indeed, the fellow who never talks about his past is usually most chained to it by it.

If you want to be really free from your sorrow and mistakes, don't try to put them behind you—don't try to bury them. SHARE THEM! Drag them right out into the open and make them part of your living communion of today.

Have you made a fool of yourself? Very likely. Stop burning over it in secret. Wake up and look around you. All about you are millions of other people who have also made fools of themselves, and suffered exactly the same agonies of humiliation which you are suffering now. Nerve yourself to admit that you're one of them.

Throw that old mistake of yours into the common pot and share it with the other blunderers, as men lost on a trail would share bitter bread. And suddenly you'll find that the sting of it has disappeared—that you're truly free of it at last!

Have you passed through a ghastly grief? Lost someone you loved more than life itself? . . . Have you been badly treated, tricked by those you trusted, abused by those you helped? . . . Or are you oppressed, weak, within your own self, weakness no more cruel than any of your life, your own cowardice, your pricking egotism, your hot temper?

Stop thinking that these conditions are unique experiences or handicaps. Stop looking them within in the narrow confines of your own life and spirit. Make yourself admit the truth—namely, that they are part of the common human lot; that your grief is no more tragic, your handicap no more bitter, your heartache no more cruel than the griefs and betrayals and handicaps suffered by millions of others.

Not easy to admit this. Tough on your conceit—for we all like to think that we're the World's Worst Sufferers. But it's the only way to cure what ails you.

LADIES' DAY

By Caralee Stanard

LADIES' DAY at Sportman's Park. The Mighty Dizzy on the Mound.

Seventeen thousand five hundred free feminine spectators and many more who paid admission shrieking at the top of their lungs for two hours while rouge streaks their cheeks and permanent waves are knocked helter skelter.

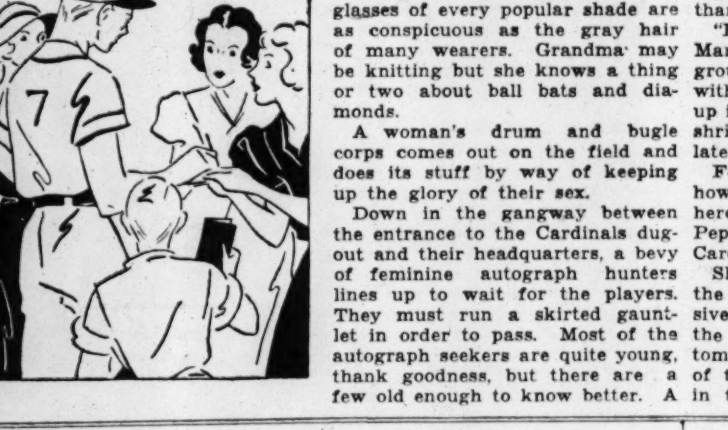

The game starts at 3 p. m., but the women are there long before lunch time. By 2 o'clock the best seats are filled and the entrances are jammed with perspiring, pushing throngs. It is a hot, sticky day but that doesn't matter. Dizzy Dean is going to pitch. One woman weary of waiting her turn in line decides to climb over the turnstile. Her skirt catches and a policeman is called to the rescue.

"Take it easy, lady," he tells her while a disgruntled man who is looking on mutters under his breath. "Call her 'lady' if you want to."

Up in the grandstands the early birds are munching hot dogs, chafing bedpads or knitting sweaters. Purple yarn and eucalyptus are mixed up with the score cards, buns and pop bottles. One middle-aged woman who has a choice seat is saving another beside her and eagerly scanning the crowds. The section is nearly filled when a lone man sneaks in, sees her waving "kerchief" and drops into the coveted location.

"Oh, boy, ain't he a brave man," shouts a gum-chewing, unstockinged lassie who is hanging on the railing.

The crowds are getting thicker, the seats are filling rapidly. Only

A few scattered ones high up near the roof are available while outside the battling females are pushing all the harder. A mother comes in with a baby on her arm. The child who isn't more than four months old, is cooing as happily as though he were in his crib at home. A girl of 6 or 7 years is stretched out across the laps of two women, taking her afternoon nap while they relieve each other in fanning her. Children, however, are surprisingly few—most mothers apparently finding it most satisfactory to leave such incumbents at home.

Beverage vendors are pushing their way through the incoming mobs, selling white frocks and forgetting that today is Wednesday as they call, "All right, boys, how about a nice cold drink?"

"Have you any beer," demands a husky voice from the middle of a skirted section. The shout is sitting forward, hat in hand and arms pushed out at either side as though ready to jump at the first wisecrack of a neighbor.

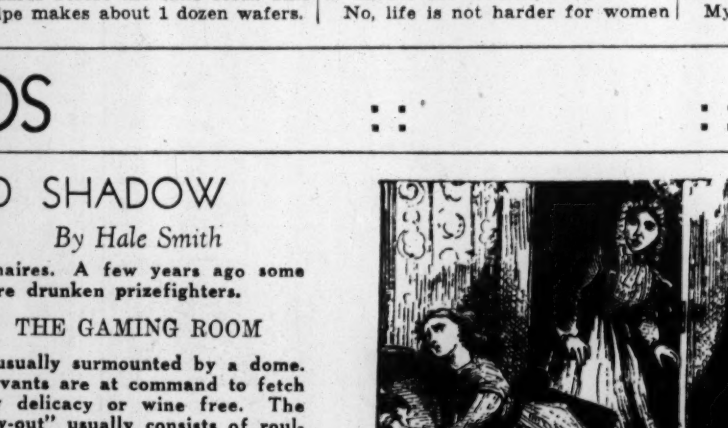

The game started on schedule, and a wife missed a thrill of her lifetime. This is her first big league game (she has listened to many on the radio, but she hasn't seen the Cardinals pitch) and it has started all wrong.

Up in the tier of seats, one high feminine voice calls louder than the others.

"Bear down on it, Pepper!" And Martin does, to the extent of a grounder. The fans take high C without a quaver. Pocketbook goes up in the air and they scream their shrillest as he slides a few minutes later into third.

Feminine rooters are a fickle lot, however, and Rothrock becomes the hero of the hour when he brings Pepper home to score a run for the Cardinals.

Showers send the chosen few in the boxes to cover so that expensive attire will not be ruined while the game is called and the free customers above chant their derision of the "sissies" down below. Out in the bleachers, where a few than for men—unless they make it so. In the goodness of her heart my reader is wasting a lot of worry, it seems to me. She ought to be singing a song of thanksgiving.

If only she could read the many letters that reach me from unmarried women and widows without means, and without any kind of training by which they can earn money! Such letters wring my heart!

There are, of course, cases where it cannot be helped and is not the fault of anybody. But often it is because parents have kept their girls at home on the ground that they will get married anyway.

So they may, but husbands do die sometimes, and often before they have provided for a widow and little ones. Or it may be that the girl who was expected to marry does not—she may not want to do it.

Anyway, it is cruel to let a girl go into life without any training for earning a living, if she has to do it; almost as cruel as to let a girl go into life without a den of lions without a gun!

My readers has no cause for worry. Her daughter has brains and character and pluck; and if she marries she will bring her brains to bear on her job of keeping house, and make a go of it, too.

As for housework, men ought to know how to do it, too, and they ought to lend a hand, as many of them have learned to do during the depression. My reader is crossing a bridge before she gets to it.

Last Stronghold of Masculinity Falls as Women Storm the Stands

By Caralee Stanard

LADIES' DAY at Sportman's Park. The Mighty Dizzy on the Mound.

tall blond girl in blue, gifted with more nerve than several of her sisters, undertakes to help them nab the players.

"That's the fourth time you've been here with a book for me to sign," warns Dizzy, but he signs it just the same.

"Listen to Collins," coos another. "He talks just like Bing Crosby."

A brunette in white, eyes shadowed and lips moulded into a very red curve, can't decide whether the Giants or Cardinals are the best looking.

The game starts, and with the first fly the women start shrieking. "I sure get a kick out of all the shrill yells the ladies let out," draws Dizzy while waiting his turn at the bat.

A sweet-faced little woman in gray enters one of the first row boxes, a look of disappointment on her face. Who can blame her? Her husband, the Mayor of Red Bud, Ill., was to have thrown the first ball, but they couldn't get through the crowds clamoring for admittance.

The air is stifling as the crowds move back to evade the dash of rain. One girl, hanging on the railing high up in the top of the stand, is pushed roughly by a seated spectator and is caught by a man standing tiptoes to see over a cartwheel hat.

"Serves you right," jeers the carefully coiffured rooter who did the pushing. "I got here early to get this seat." Little does she care that a serious accident has been averted because a strong man ventured into a woman's land.

Time out for the players means more cold drinks and lollypops for the crowd. A few pick up their stitches but most are busy with powder puffs and rouge.

The game is resumed and passes the crucial fifth while the fans who were moaning about the rain are now praying for it because the Cardinals seem doomed to lose their lead.

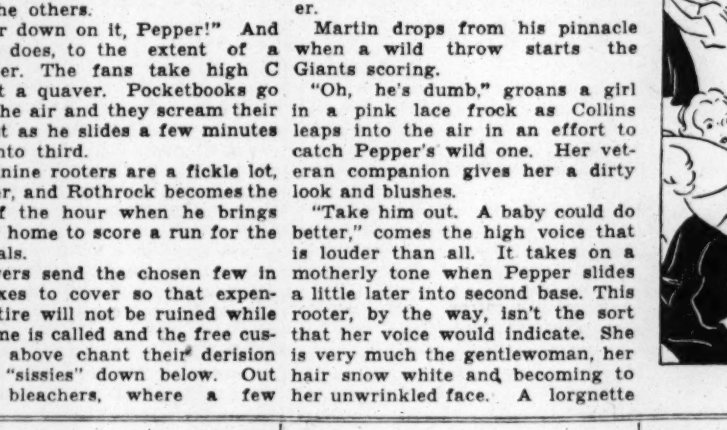

Another foul ball into the grandstand is caught by a man as the women boo.

The crowd is tense. Finger nails have marks on their glossy surface where teeth have been. Perspiration is dripping as fans move faster.

Martin drops from his pinnacle when a wild throw starts the Giants scoring.

"Oh, he's dumb," groans a girl in a pink lace frock as Collins leaps into the air in an effort to catch Pepper's wild one. Her veteran companion gives her a dirty look and blushes.

"Take him out. A baby could do better," comes the high voice that is louder than all. It takes on a motherly tone when Pepper slides a little later into second base. This rooter, by the way, isn't the sort that her voice would indicate. She is very much the gentlewoman, her hair snow white and becoming to her unwrinkled face. A lorgnette reports that its graduating class this year is 60 per cent employed in business and in industry.

Few educational institutions can say that, possibly, because the Stevens Institute actually taught young men something in particular, instead of teaching them "things in general."

In Detroit women picketed butcher shops, to force lower prices. Some who wanted to buy were trampled upon.

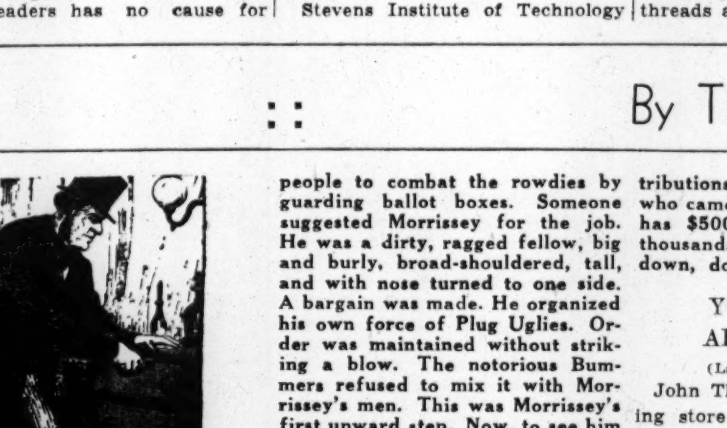

Mrs. Zuk, with two children and a husband out of work, who organized the picketing, says she was told by one seller "why don't you go see President Roosevelt?" He started this.

President Roosevelt started the plan to get higher prices for farmers that raise meat. If they get higher prices, the people must pay higher prices.

people to combat the rowdies by guarding ballot boxes. Someone suggested Morrissey for the job. He was a dirty, ragged fellow, big and burly, broad-shouldered, tall, and with nose turned to one side. A bargain was made. He organized his own force of Plug Uglies. Order was maintained without striking a blow. The notorious Bummers refused to mix it with Morrissey's men. This was Morrissey's first upward step. Now, to see him at Saratoga in his white flannel suit, wearing huge diamonds of the first order, is to see a man who conducts himself like a gentleman. He seldom speaks. In New York he dresses less flashily.

She is a modern motherly type, having a good time at a ball game without caring a rap about the comments of the weaker of her sex. "Go easy, now my boy," she calls to a player as he gets up and tries to brush the mud from his clothes. "Sir Walter Raleigh could do no better."

This slide through the mud is a gallant and heroic gesture to the throngs of admiring women, but to a struggling Cardinal it is just another futile attempt to win a ball game. And most of the idle worshippers do not hear his uncomplimentary remarks about the umpire who calls him out.

LADIES' Day was originated not with an idea of chivalry but because by letting women in free one day a week, the baseball magnates were making baseball fans who might pay admissions the other six days. Whether or not they have succeeded in making cash customers out of the women they have undoubtedly made thousands of feminine fans. Where a few years ago remarks in the grandstand proved the great National Game was much of a mystery to the fair sex, on this day it is not necessary to sit among them long until you realize that they have as keen an appreciation of the fine points of the game as any male spectator.

With the advent of women rooters another of the last strongholds of man has disappeared. Pushed out of the barber shop by the short-haired brigade, crowded out of the saloons by the fair cocktail drinkers, he can no longer seek seclusion at a baseball game. Even the bleachers are no sanctuary because when feminine fans pour in by the thousands and can't find seats under cover, a sizzling sun or a pouring rain won't deter their determination.

Housework is a complicated business, or art. It can be made very interesting and it can be a horrible grind of ugly tasks. It all depends upon conditions. If you want a girl to like housework, begin giving her easy tasks when she is little, then gradually introduce the more complicated jobs. Supply her with the right materials and implements, making them as attractive as possible. It is pleasant to use pretty brushes, shining tools, bright pots and pans, modern stoves and ice-boxes. If these can be had, all the little at a time, and want your advice. Don't you think it would be wise to put off buying scarfs and bedspreads until the furniture has been selected, so that one can buy them to suit the particular size and style of furniture?

Does the bride furnish the curtains and draperies for her room?

MARTHA.

I think you might very well postpone buying the bedspreads and other linens until your furniture and colors are decided upon.

The bride does not furnish the curtains and draperies for the home, as these are a part of the regular furnishing of the house. Of course, if she has a great deal of money and wishes very much to do so, she can.

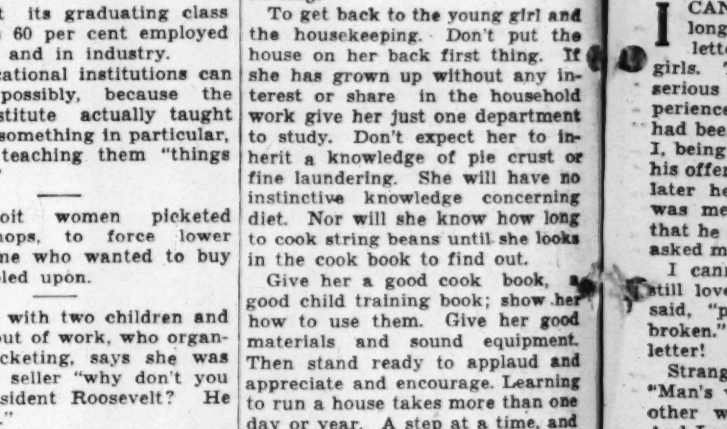

My dear Mrs. Carr:

I CANNOT hold my peace any longer when I read some of the letters the boys write about girls. They say the girls are not serious about marriage. My experience was a boy with whom I had been going proposed to me and I, being in love with him, accepted his offer of marriage. A few months later he broke the news that he was merely infatuated and found that he did not really love me. He asked me to "forgive" him and I said, "I cannot forget, but because I will love him, I forgive him. He said, 'promises are made to be broken.' He broke the news in a letter!

"Strange—but I thought that 'Man works to God in man.' In other words, sacred and solemn. And I will tell you that this is why girls laugh at marriage—to keep from being laughed at.

The boys say they want a "good old-fashioned girl." Do they? Well, a never drunk, smoked, cursed or I cussed, a girl who is "petted" because he wanted me to.

IF YOU MY OPINION

By MARTHA CARR

Dear Martha Carr:

YOUR answer to the letter signed "P." has me puzzled.

You say sincere or devout Christians may say the blessing at the beginning or end of the meal or both—and you have proof of the same. One other than heads of table should offer grace or give thanks after the meal without being requested to do so by one of the heads of the family, whoever that may be, father, mother; if there is no parent, it might be the oldest child.

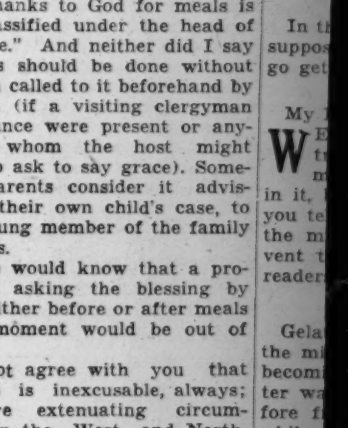

I received my training East and South, where they pay a great deal of attention to table etiquette, or rather they used to; for anyone to give grace or offer audible thanks at the end of the meal, especially if leaving table before the head of the family would be considered a breach of etiquette, disrespectful, rude ignorance (ignorance is inexcusable).

PUZZLED.

I hardly think the matter of offering thanks to God for meals is quite classified under the head of "etiquette." And neither did I say that this should be done without attention called to it beforehand by the host (if a visiting clergyman for instance were present or anyone else whom the host might choose to ask to say grace). Sometimes, parents consider it advisable, in their own child's case, to ask a young member of the family to do this.

Anyone would know that a promiscuous asking the blessing by anyone either before or after meals at any moment would be out of place.

I do not agree with you that ignorance is inexcusable, always; there are extenuating circumstances, in the West and North, East and South.

Dear Mrs. Carr:

I CONTEMPLATE marriage in the fall or early winter of this year, and inasmuch as my finances are somewhat limited at this time, I am buying my linens a little at a time, and want your advice. Don't you think it would be wise to put off buying scarfs and bedspreads until the furniture has been selected, so that one can buy them to suit the particular size and style of furniture?

My experience was a boy with whom I had been going proposed to me and I, being in love with him, accepted his offer of marriage. A few months later he broke the news that he was merely infatuated and found that he did not really love me. He asked me to "forgive" him and I said, "I cannot forget, but because I will love him, I forgive him. He said, 'promises are made to be broken.' He broke the news in a letter!

"Strange—but I thought that 'Man works to God in man.' In other words, sacred and solemn. And I will tell you that this is why girls laugh at marriage—to keep from being laughed at.

AN OLD-FASHIONED GIRL.

Once in a While.

One day of each month leave the doors of your room open and allow some air to reach the leather bindings. It will keep them in better condition.

YOU CAN'T GET AHEAD OF JOHN (Lamar, Mo., Democrat.)

John Thrallkill, our genial clothing store man, has secured three monkeys which he has placed on exhibition in his west window where crowds of sightseers through the sidewalk opposite the window, gazing with open-mouthed wonder at the "monkeyshines." John as an advertiser gets there every time.

Simile.

Unnoticed as what can offend nobody.

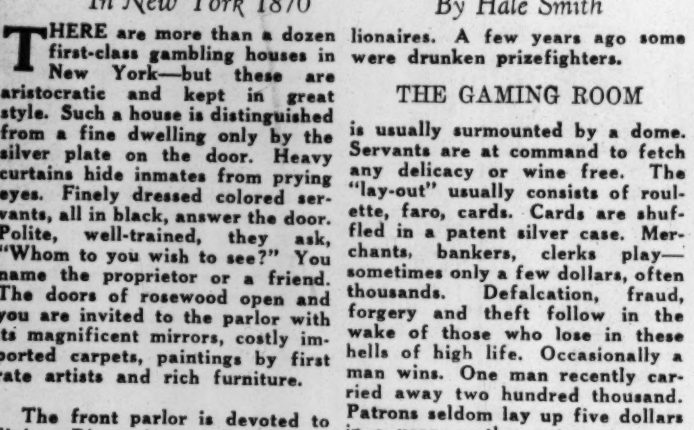

Observers complain that America is not training really good young diplomats.

It is very difficult. A good diplomat has to be able to pull mules out of mountains and hats out of rabbits.

SUNSHINE AND SHADOW

In New York 1870

By Hale Smith

There are more than a dozen first-class gambling houses in New York—but these are aristocratic and kept in great style. Such a house is distinguished from a fine dwelling only by the silver plate on the door. Heavy curtains hide inmates from prying eyes. Finely dressed colored servants, all in black, answer the door. Polite, well-trained, they ask, "Whom to you wish to see?" You name the proprietor or a friend. The doors of rosewood open and you are invited to the parlor with its magnificent mirrors, costly imported carpets, paintings by first rate artists and rich furniture.

The front parlor is devoted to dining. Dinner is served at six and nothing in New York equals its elegance. Keepers of first rate gambling houses engage in constant rivalry to spread the best table. All are welcome—no questions asked. A man can eat, drink and be on his way if he chooses. Many of the proprietors are millionaires. A few years ago some were drunken prizefighters.

THE GAMING ROOM

is usually surmounted by a dome. Servants are at command to fetch any delicacy or wine free. The "lay-out" usually consists of roulette, faro, cards. Cards are shuffled in a patent silver case. Merchants, bankers, clerks play—sometimes only a few dollars, often thousands. Defalcation, fraud, forgery and theft follow in the wake of those who lose in these halls of high life. Occasionally a man wins. One man recently carried away two hundred thousand. Patrons seldom lay up five dollars in a year, as the return to gamble away any winnings.

NONE BUT GENTLEMEN

or those who know how to behave as gentlemen are allowed entrance. It is startling to see men whose names stand high in church and state in these places. John Morrissey's house is among the most popular. A few years ago he maintained a low drinking saloon in Troy—a resort of thieves, prizefighters, gamblers. Morrissey drifted to New York and located himself in the lowest stew. At that time rough-boys, short-boys

A DOCTOR TALKS OF HEALTH

By Logan Clendenning, M. D.

THE charming lady who told me this story said she didn't know whether it proved anything or not. And after thinking it over, I am equally at a loss. But at least I think it is one of those things that could be called a "helpful hint."

The story was about her case of athlete's foot. She reminded me that she had told me the trouble she was having. She had tried to get me to express an opinion, but I said nothing. She said she was hurt I had not offered any suggestions. I am very glad now, as things turned out. I didn't, because it would have been a wrong one.

Every doctor she consulted she started out by telling him she was an asthmatic. And that was really a very good hint. But they said the eruption on her foot was a fungus infection (athlete's foot) and proceeded to try to kill it with different kinds of ointments. It seemed to her the treatments made her worse, but the doctors said no. It was just a stubborn case and sooner or later it would yield. They exposed her to X-rays and painted her with dyes. But in spite of all this she was in agony. The only relief she experienced was to have two buckets of sea water brought and to sit with one foot in each. Attentive.

Finally she consulted a new doctor, who paid attention to her history of asthma. He said he would try something. So he rubbed some grease on the skin of her arm and covered it with adhesive plaster. He told her not to touch it, but to return two days later. When she did, he removed the adhesive and the ointment. The skin under the ointment had been raw and fiery red just as her feet had been.

"The stuff I put on there," said the doctor, "is the base for practically all medicinal ointments."

Of course she stopped the use of ointment altogether. She was advised to have her tonsils out. Three weeks later her feet were entirely healed.

There is plenty of good medical reason to explain this incident. The point about the asthma history is that asthmatics are likely to have manifestations of allergic sensitiveness elsewhere, especially on the skin.

Patch Test.

These sensitizations can be detected by means of the "patch test" described above—exposing a portion of skin to the suspected irritant, and covering it with a bit of adhesive.

My friend undoubtedly had a small spot of infection on her foot, and the application of the ointment to which she was sensitive started the irritative dermatitis which was the cause of her trouble.

As to lesions, the naturally feet she should have gone to the last doctor first. But the medical profession has never claimed to be infallible, and I have no doubt her first attendant was kicking them selves enough for everybody.

One lesson may be not to think every eruption on the foot is athlete's foot.

GOLDEN GODDESS

Lillis, Believed Drugged, Is Carried Into the Mountains by Derge in His Plan to Trick the Indians.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR.

LILLIS' eyes were closed and she was lying back in her chair. Soames was feeling her pulse—his fingers on her wrist were thin and chilly. She almost shivered under their grasp, but controlled herself in time. Whatever came, whatever happened, she had to go on pretending that she had taken the drug she was supposed to take. Once out of this room, out of this house, she had a good chance to escape.

"Call Senhor Derge," he ordered Manuela sharply. "You'll find him in my sitting room. The door is unlocked."

The thin, chilly fingers left her lids and went back to her wrist. Their pressure was quite firm, and they seemed to get colder and colder.

Lillis hardly dared to breathe. The darkness behind her eyes was first tinged with crimson, then purple, then yellow. The panic which had failed to materialize while she was having dinner with Soames was upon her.

Derge's voice booming into the darkness frightened her still more. "How is it?"

"Pulse is pretty rocky. Otherwise everything is all right," Soames replied, releasing her wrist. "Take all the coffee!" Derge demanded.

"Enough?"

"Plenty. I planned on only one knowing the cups would be small. As I told you, she should be unconscious for 10 hours—completely unconscious as she was before, and for the following five hours, partly conscious, but not able to speak."

"Well, we're ready, then. You took longer at dinner than I expected. That black shawl, Manuela."

"SI, Senhor."

Something silky fell over Lillis' body and face, and strong arms lifted her up. Derge, she realized, because the hands weren't thin and chilly, but firm, warm and muscular. Under the shawl, she opened her eyes, but the yellowish darkness remained with her.

She was out of the bedroom and into the dressing room, and then into another room, the very breath of which was different from that in which she had lived for so many days. A few more steps, and she was out of this into fresh air that was balmy and yet cool. Derge's footsteps echoed on the gravel path as he bore her lightly along. Other footsteps echoed with his—Soames' short, uneven steps—almost mincing beside Derge's long stride.

Only the two of them? Lillis listened for more footsteps, but couldn't make them out. Some of the desperate pain that had settled on her while Soames was feeling her pulse was gone. She was getting calmer. Derge's arms were like iron, not tight round her, but yet not loose, and he was carrying her as if her weight were nothing to him. She thought of screaming, and once she opened her mouth under the shawl and took a long, deep breath, ready to scream. But she didn't. Who would hear her if she did? What good would it do her? Far better—to wait. Far, far better.

Other sounds were mingled with the mincing steps of Soames, and the steady long steps of Derge. Low spoken words, the whinny of a horse, the creak of steel on steel. The girl heard them first faintly, then more plainly just before Derge stopped abruptly.

"See if there's a blanket in the cart, Soames," he said softly. "Yes, sir; blanket's in the cart." "You get in and ride with her. I'll walk."

The strong arms laid her down on something soft and someone stumbled up beside her. Soames recognized his short, quick breathing near her. A clicking sound, and the cart on which she was lying started to move slowly and quietly. The noise of the wheels moving over the gravel was muffled. She could hear other footsteps than Derge's, but she couldn't tell how many. Softer footsteps than his, as if the feet were clad in moccasins. There was someone directly beside her head outside the cart—she felt a presence and heard the rattle of reins on rein. The driver.

One horse she thought. Not two. In the stillness she caught the beat of hoofs of only one horse. Now the animal was switching his tail, now rubbing the bit between his teeth. Those sounds were familiar. Long ago in her childhood she had known those sounds from the farm where Aunt Mabel got her fresh supplies. Someone was smoking—not Soames, because she knew the smell of his cigarettes, sweetish and very faint. This was a stronger blend. Whiffs of it came under the loose shawl to her nostrils. Derge?

Her fingers felt of the shawl. Black she knew it must be, because Derge had asked Manuela for the black shawl. Black and soft, the silk loosely woven. She had never touched material exactly like it before, so she couldn't tell what kind it was, but although it covered her completely, she could breathe through it, and it wasn't warm around her limbs. Cool, instead.

The cart was going down hill. She felt the strain of the weight against the wheels, which were groaning quietly under the brakes. The horse's steps were shorter.

Was she to go the whole distance in the cart? Manuela had said the mountain Tiva where the Inca met every 10 years to wait for their goddess was far away. Over a day's journey. Was there a road to Tiva?

The cart jolted badly once and Lillis took advantage of the jolt to move the shawl away from her eyes. At first she opened them gingerly, but could make out nothing in the darkness. The dark bulk of Soames beside her finally took shape. His face seemed very white in the night, and his hands on the side of the cart very white, too. After awhile she made out another shape outside the cart, bobbing along, then another. Darker shapes than Soames. Their faces weren't white.

Brown men like Manuela. Derge was on the other side—she knew from his footsteps, but she didn't dare move her head that way—unless the cart jolted again. It appeared to be going more smoothly, however, on level ground. Faster, too.

Two men on the side next to Dr. Soames. One man driving, probably a brown man, although Lillis couldn't see him. How many were walking beside Derge? One, two? She couldn't tell.

ABOVE her through the dark tangled branches of the trees which almost met over the road, she caught glimpses of the stars at intervals. No moon, though, and there was no brightness in the sky to suggest it was rising. The stars seemed dim—the black sky almost blotted out their light.

So quiet, with all these people around her. No conversation. Derge and Soames were silent. Even the driver made no sound. Footsteps, that was all, both of the animal and the men, and the wheels of the cart rolling along.

If the long ride in the cart lasted, Lillis didn't know, although it seemed very long to her because she had to keep so still. When the party finally halted, her limbs were cramped and her head was throbbing.

The stop was made in silence. In silence, she was again lifted into Derge's arms, carried perhaps a dozen steps away, and set into something that was soft and gave with her body. A hammock? If it was a hammock, it was such one Lillis had never experienced before, padded, very comfortable—entirely unlike the cord hammock that swung from between two apple trees in Aunt Mabel's yard in Elmwood.

Yes, this was a hammock, and it was swung from the shoulders of men—she could feel it sway gently from side to side, hear their footsteps as they walked evenly along. For a while she could hear Derge's footsteps, too, beside her, then he dropped behind and she felt the branches of low hung shrubs brush the shawl over her face.

Were these men going to bear her 114 pounds of weight for a day and a night over a mountainous road?

The path was getting steeper, and she could hear the men breathing more and more heavily as they went. The bearer in front was puffing badly, but the pace was the same. Even—not too fast, not too slow. The bearer behind appeared to be stronger—Lillis could hardly hear him inhale and exhale.

Soames and Derge still said nothing, but they were directly behind the hammock. Julian? Where was Julian?

Lillis liked the hammock better than the cart. She didn't have to lie so quietly in it. She could move now and then, stretch. The night, however, when she peered out from the shawl, still was very dark, and there was a dank smell of too fast growing jungle foliage.

Life's stop here, and change men on the hammock," Derge's voice announced suddenly. "I'll take the front pole..." He gave a quick order in some language Lillis had never heard before, and she felt herself being set gently down. Then the procession started again. Derge in front.

Willy Nilly Has Another Plan For His Big Ears

By Mary Graham Bonner

EVERY one was happy in Puddle Muddle. Rip was only too glad to lie in the sunshine, nibble at a bone or run around and call on Top Notch, the rooster, the bears at their cave, or talk to the little man Willy Nilly, Sweet Face, the lamb, Christopher Columbus Crow and the ducks.

Rip found, too, that nothing refreshed him as much as a swim in the ducks' pond. He was indeed a contented dog once again.

Willy Nilly found some vegetables had grown in spite of the way the garden had been neglected. He took them over to the manly settlement to sell them, promising more.

As they sat in front of Willy Nilly's house after the sun had gone down, enjoying the cool, refreshing breeze that blew over Puddle Muddle Rip said:

"You must really attend to your ears now, Willy Nilly. What with one thing and another you haven't had any time at all."

"The little man felt his sticking-out, pointed ears."

"Yes," he agreed, "they do need attention or they'll always look like a goat's ears."

"What about going to see that magician who lives in that yellow house some distance away from here?" asked Christopher Columbus Crow. "He's still there, I know, and you spoke of going to see him once."

"I believe I'll go the first thing in the morning," answered Willy Nilly. "My automobile Two-Ways will take me there in no time."

"Good!" they all cackled and barked and growled and quacked and cawed the bleated.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

by WYNN

For Tuesday, July 30.

HIGHLY individual till Thursday; realize your full responsibility. Today, take care of financial matters—pay and collect. But be thoughtful in taking on new obligations. Watch domestic relationships; keep 'em level.

Good Books. Answering the requests for book titles that will help understand the ancient teachings of the masters of wisdom, I recommend: the philosophies of Plato, Pythagoras, Hermes, Aristotle, Paracelsus, Eliphas Levi, Lord Bacon and Blavatsky. Get these in as nearly original form as possible. There are badly edited versions that have ruined the true meanings of most of them.

Your Year Ahead. Your year ahead indicates tests in money and occupational matters, but better conditions will be available emotionally, especially after Nov. 14 on. Make wise occupational changes. Danger: Dec. 3-Jan. 19, and April 5-May 18.

Tomorrow. Avoid pessimism and haste; a day for taking inventory of yourself. (Copyright, 1935.)

Soames, he said shortly. "I want the men relieved every hour."

"Yes, sir. And when do we stop for a rest?"

"Thinking about that already?" A dry laugh from Derge. "Not until seven in the morning, and then only for an hour."

Lillis took a deep, long breath. They were going to stop to rest. That was good news. She might be able to... get away at the stop.

Innovations In Engraved Invitations

By Emily Post

(This letter is from a firm of stationers and engravers.)

Dear Mrs. Post: We would welcome your frank criticism of a wedding invitation which we are prepared to take orders for no more money than on the old form which lacks the personal appeal of our new idea.

The following is what we have in mind. Instead of leaving the line following "requests the honor of" blank, to be filled in by hand with pen and ink, we are prepared to fill in this line with the name of each guest printed in type that would exactly match the engraving of the rest of the form.

Answer: I'm sorry to have to say that instead of making the invitations more personal, it would make them less so. I should, however, very much like the name written with pen and ink (done by the engravers, perhaps?) so beautifully neat that it would almost—but not quite—suggest the engraving of the other lines. I would not, however, go so far as to say that printed names, as you suggest, are in bad taste, but I like written in ones better because they are suggestive of less effort.

1. Many studies have shown that girls, on the average, mature from half a year to two years earlier than boys. Early for this reason, no doubt, shyness disappears earlier in girls than in boys. This is also thought by some psychologists to be one reason why girls make better average records in school up to about 18, than boys do. A girl of 14 usually knows far better than a boy of that age how to manage a party, conduct herself socially and maintain a poise in a difficult social situation. Upon request, accompanied by a self-addressed 3c stamped envelope I will recommend two or three books which contain tips in developing poise and self-confidence.

2. H. J. Steers of West Tennessee Teachers' College, as reported in School and Society, rated a large group of pupils on the following traits of character: Initiative, control of attitude, frontness, trustworthiness and sense of accuracy. When compared their ratings on this scale with their intelligence tests and then compared both with their school marks. The character traits won out distinctly. In Engraved Invitations

Dear Mrs. Post: We would welcome your frank criticism of a wedding invitation on which we are prepared to take orders for no money other than on the old form which elicits the personal appeal of our ideas. The following is what we have in mind, instead of leaving the line following requests the honor of blank, to be filled in by hand with pen and ink, we are prepared to fill in this line with the name of each guest printed in type that would exactly match the engraving of the host of the form.

Answer: I'm sorry to have to say that instead of making the invitations more personal, it would make them less so. I should, however, very much like the name written with pen and ink (done by the engraver, perhaps?) so beautifully that it would almost—but not quite—suggest the engraving of the other lines. I would not, however, go so far as to say that printed names, as you suggest, are in bad taste, but I like written in ones either because they are suggestive of less effort.

AUTHOR'S NOTE: These answers are given from the scientific point of view. Science puts the rights of organized society above the rights of individuals.

1. Many studies have shown that girls, on the average, mature from half a year to two years earlier than boys. Partly for this reason, no doubt, shyness disappears earlier in girls than in boys. This is also thought by some psychologists to be one reason why girls make better average records in school up to about 18, than boys do. A girl of 14 usually knows far better than a boy of that age how to manage a party, conduct herself socially and maintain a poise in a difficult social situation. Upon request, accompanied by a self-addressed 3c stamped envelope I will recommend two or three books which contain helps in developing poise and self-confidence.

2. H. J. Steers of West Tennessee Teachers' College, as reported in the School and Society, rated a large group of pupils on the following traits of character: Initiative, control of attention, persistence, trustworthiness and sense of accuracy. He then compared their ratings on this scale with their intelligence tests and then compared both with their school marks. The character traits went out distinctly. Those with low intelligence test scores, but with fine character outdid those with high intelligence ratings, but low character scores. —They may do so for three reasons: First, someone else may steal the glory; second, the discovery or invention may be the product of so many minds that the original creator is lost in the shuffle; and third, the individual may be so sour and self-centered his greatness will never be recognized. I know two scientific men whose discoveries are about of equal importance; one is known all over the world, the other scarcely known at all. The famous one is genial, generous, careless of his personal fame, always giving credit to others; the other is selfish, introverted, fearful he will not be recognized—and he is not and never will be.

Dust Flowers

By Pauli Greywin

RITA and Dave Martin sat huddled dejectedly on the back steps of their cramped, unpainted farmhouse and watched a beary-eyed sun sink into a dust-blotted horizon.

Suddenly, a fierce, triumphant surge of elation swept over Rita, for tomorrow she would be returning to her home in the East where Dave had first met her and persuaded her to come West as his bride. And she was not coming back. Only this afternoon she had received a letter from Jake Becker telling her that she could have her old place in his flower shop—and his affections. There had been a letter from her mother, too, in the same mail, and after Rita had read the messages from back home she had flung herself across the bed and wept with the wild abandon of a desperately homesick child.

"Dave," she announced now in a low, tense voice, "I'm going home tomorrow—for a while."

Because she closed her eyes to shut out the vision of a drouth-tortured countryside, she failed to see the shadow of anxiety that trailed across Dave's fine, courageous face.

"What's the matter?" Dave asked, with a note of tenderness that was lost in the rushing wind.

"Oh—nothing. I'm just sick of this drouth and dust!" Rita's voice quavered, and her slender body sagged wearily against a grimy porch pillar. "I'm tired of imagining that it is silver, falling rain. I want to go back home and see the real thing slant down into a fresh, green lawn; I want to see flowerpots glistening in the sunlight. I want something more than weather!"

Rita's throat ached from the bitter yearning in the words she had uttered.

Dave gazed dully at the sunset. His big, rough hands lay motionless upon his knees. After a while he stirred uneasily.

"Can I help it if it doesn't rain?" he grumbled, drawing a hand across his furrowed forehead in a gesture of gloom.

Rita turned toward him with a flush of resentment staining her thin cheeks.

"Dave, your hands never used to be too busy to caress me—once in a while. And now your eyes are too tired from searching the sky for rain clouds to notice when I put on a new house dress even."

"I've got plenty to do without entertaining you all the time," returned Dave.

"I don't ever get to see any flowers here," Rita went on. "The dust for rain clouds to notice when I put on a new house dress even."

"I've got plenty to do without entertaining you all the time," returned Dave.

ANNE OF BRITANNY—Anne of Brittany (1477-1514), married Emperor Maximilian of Germany by proxy on Dec. 16, 1489. But she never saw either her husband or the country of which she thus became the Empress. Her French subjects threatened rebellion. To avoid any outbreaks, she decided to marry a French King. Never troubling to divorce her German husband, she married a second time, selecting King Charles VIII of France as her husband in 1491. Charles died in 1498, and Anne became engaged to marry Louis XII of France, a marriage which was never concluded.

panes. Rita, in the breath-taking embrace of Dave's strong, young arms, thought the sound was nothing like the patter of blown raindrops.

And she secretly resolved to tell her husband on their golden wedding day that she had wilfully allowed the wind to snatch Jake's letter out of her hands, inasmuch as she had purposely substituted it for her mother's—just as a reminder that weather wasn't everything in the life of a husband, either.

Congress Will Adjourn to Hot Springs

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

CONGRESS will not look back on this session as bright college days. It has been tougher than jerked beef from start to finish.

Its legislation has had some good results. Something like the fat golfer who reduced his waistline replacing divots.

But its taxation programs have been as unpopular as a mouse in a sugar bowl. Each citizen is in favor of soaking some other citizen.

Result is that Congress has hung up a new speed record for not pleasing all the people all of the time.

The newly organized St. Louis Welfare Guild, formed by salaried employees of the St. Louis Relief Administration and of the private welfare agencies, was confronted today with a demand that its officers resign or retract a statement criticizing officials of the Relief Administration for "sanctioning" the use of force by police to break up a demonstration in front of relief headquarters by the American Workers Union. The union was organized by persons on the relief rolls to present demands for larger relief allowances.

Members of the guild committee, at a meeting of the guild last night at the Y. M. H. A., said Peter Kasius, Relief Administrator, had given them until 4:30 o'clock this afternoon to meet his requirements. The ultimatum was the topic of a vigorous discussion at the meeting, attended by about 125 relief agency employees, of whom about 20 were Negroes. Sam Katz, president of the guild, denounced it as an interference with the right of free speech. "Because we are on the payroll, must we stand by and not criticize?" he asked.

Resolution Adopted. Just what would be the outcome remained to be seen after the meeting, at which a resolution was passed to the effect that the ultimatum should be "rescinded." Other resolutions endorsed the action of the Executive Committee in voicing its criticism, and called for appointment of a fact-finding committee to determine whether the criticism was supported by the facts.

Some doubt that the criticism was warranted was occasioned by the talk of Prof. Ralph Fuchs of Washington University, president of the St. Louis Civil Liberties Committee. Prof. Fuchs, as did the guild's Executive Committee, wrote letters to the newspapers and the Board of Police Commissioners criticizing the conduct of police at the demonstration.

The committee had gone further and said: "We regret that the ranking official of the Relief Administration, who was present at the time, did not see fit to request the withdrawal of the police, although requested to do so by the committee of the American Workers Union, thereby tacitly sanctioning such use of force."

Prof. Fuchs, who witnessed the demonstration last week in front of relief headquarters at 2221 Locust street, said the riot call was turned in by a policeman, without suggestion from relief officials, and that the crowd was dispersed so rapidly that relief officials could have done nothing about it even if they had been so disposed.

Kasius' Position. Kasius viewed the Guild's statement as unwarranted criticism of Miss Caroline Bedford, his assistant, who was in charge during his absence. A statement of the official attitude was handed to each member of the Guild at last night's meeting. It said that the relief administration, by its handling of such demonstrations in the past, had shown that it was tolerant toward peaceful assembly and that it had approved and encouraged the right of organization and free speech.

The Guild's criticism was not founded on fact, the statement added, and "because of this inaccuracy Mr. Kasius asked Mr. Katz to see that a correction was made, or, failing to get such action by his committee, that he resign from the committee or from the relief administration." Although the statement referred only to Katz, it was said at the meeting that all members of the executive committee, or at least the six employed by the Relief Administration, have the same problem to face. Three members of the committee are employed by private welfare agencies.

The Guild is said to have a membership of about 400 of the 1200 eligible to join. Many of its members are apprehensive that they will lose their jobs in the lightening of the direct relief rolls with development of the new Federal work program. The Relief Administration has already dropped 240 employees, reducing its force to 984, and further reductions are to be made. Katz, at last night's meeting, quoted Kasius as saying that engineers, not social workers, would be needed in the new program.
